Bomb Dropper Tells Paris He Hates to Do It, "But This Is War"

PARIS, Oct. 16.—LEUT. HANS STEFFAN, the German aviator, who threw two bombs from a taube aeroplane Monday, also dropped a message, which reported that four French officers who were prisoners of the Germans, were well. The note concluded: "They asked me to leave word in Paris that they are all right. As to the bombs, I regret intensely to have to drop them, but it is war; au revoir, Parisians."

"Don't Waste Your Lives or Men's," Czar Tells Officers

PETROGRAD, Oct. 16.—From time immemorial the Russian Emperor has always appointed the alumni of military schools to commissions in the fighting forces at a special ceremony. The ceremony took place at Tsarskoe Selo as usual yesterday, and Emperor Nicholas, in view of the war conditions, discussed various matters in his address. He especially recommended the young officers to seek points of contact with their men and to enter into the trifling needs that make for the comfort of a soldier's life, adding: "Be assured that every little attention shown by you to them welds an indissoluble link of fellowship in the fight. Remember also this from me. I have not the slightest doubt of your devotion and courage, but your lives are necessary to me, for a useless waste of officers may lead to regrettable consequences. If necessary, I know you every one will willingly lay down your lives, but take care it be only in case of an exceptional need. Otherwise, I beg you to keep yourselves safe."

Austria to Punish Dealers Who Charge for Victuals

VENICE, via Paris, Oct. 16.—A drastic imperial decree has been issued to the Austrian authorities to insure the provisioning of the people at reasonable prices. Severe penalties are to be imposed on those overcharging for food, including $1000 fine and imprisonment for six months. Many branches of the retail trade in Vienna are at a standstill. The Government has also undertaken to alleviate the condition of the rent-paying population by giving the people longer time in which to pay their rent.

Courz, Boston Opera Singer, Is Killed in French Army

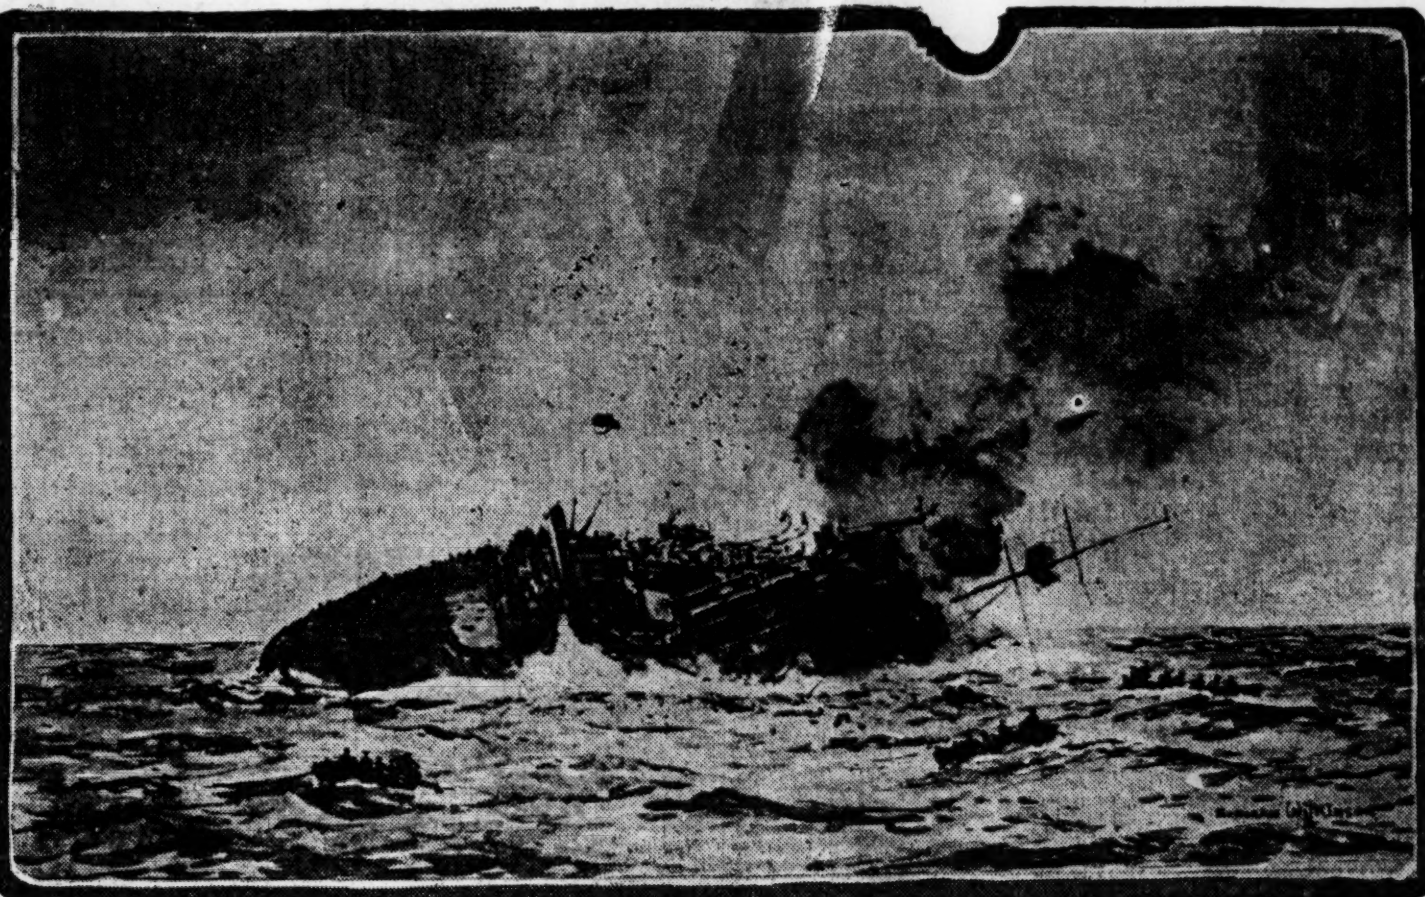

BOSTON, Oct. 16.—From a source believed to be authoritative, word was received today that Vanniman Courz, a member of the Boston Opera Company, had been shot and killed while fighting in the French army. He was a native of Turin, Italy, but for many years had been a citizen of France.

The Sinking of the British Cruiser Aboukir by a Submarine

Drawn for the Illustrated London News by NORMAN WILKINSON from a sketch by a survivor.

Copyright, 1914, by the Sun Printing and Publishing Co. Published in St. Louis exclusively by the Post-Dispatch by special arrangement with the Illustrated London News. The Aboukir was one of three sister ships sunk within an hour by the German submarine U-9. The other two were the Hogue and the Cressy. The sinking of the British cruiser Hawke, as reported in today's news, was accomplished by a German submarine in the same way.

SAN GIULIANO, ITALY'S FOREIGN MINISTER, DIES

Marquis' Death May Make Place for Advocate of War in Cabinet.

By Associated Press. ROME, Oct. 16.—The Italian Foreign Minister, Marquis Antonio di San Giuliano, died at 2:30 this afternoon. The long illness of the Marquis di San Giuliano has, according to European correspondents, been a factor in preserving the neutrality of Italy. The powers entrusted to the Minister of Foreign Affairs are wide, and other officials hesitated to exercise them, in the incapacity of the veteran Foreign Minister. His death will leave a vacancy which may be filled by someone in sympathy with the prevailing agitation for war against Austria.

22 GERMANS ARRESTED IN SPY RAID IN LONDON

Prisoners Taken in Factory With Heavy Concrete Foundations and Roof.

By Associated Press. LONDON, Oct. 16.—The police have found at Willesden, a suburb to the northwest of London, a building occupied by Germans with foundations and roof of heavy concrete. They arrested 22 Germans on the premises. The place was being used by C. G. Rober, a German music publisher, as a factory. The police laid their plans and conducted a successful raid. In large force they surrounded the building and then entered it and took into custody 22 German subjects. The factory is of one story. Within they found very thick concrete foundations, and it was discovered that the roof also was of concrete and between three and four feet thick. The site of this factory at Willesden commands several important railroad junctions. The Paris press of this same firm were blown up recently on orders issued by the French Government. The agitation of the London press in connection with talk of the spy menace against the employment of thousands of Germans in the hotels of the city, resulted today in an announcement that three of the large and fashionable houses were free of Germans and Austrians. This was followed by a similar announcement from two hotels in the Bloomsbury district. Several important hotels, however, notably in the Strand, are managed by Germans, and English help is not desired. It is stated that in one case a score of English employees were dismissed by a German proprietor at the outbreak of the war. A man said to be a German spy, who wore a Belgian uniform and who was among the Belgian refugees, was arrested at Dover today. A royal proclamation just issued forbids the "transit, except by post, which is subject to the censor's scrutiny, of any letter or written message to any person of any nationality carrying on business in the enemy's country. It is further ruled that any person landing or embarking in the United Kingdom must declare whether he is carrying any letters or messages. Officers are empowered to search the luggage of a suspect and seize any letter, if they are doubtful as to its character, and submit the same to the military censor.

Ex-Monarch of Albania Goes to Front With German Army

PARIS, Oct. 16.—A dispatch received here from Rome says Prince William of Wied, former ruler of Albania, has joined the German army and is on his way to the French frontier.

London Fears Germany Will Send Submarines by Rail to Channel Coast

LONDON, Oct. 16.—WIDELY circulated rumor in London today declares the Germans expect to transport by rail to places on the Belgian and French coasts a number of submarines with which to attack the British fleet.

A well-known American engineer, who has had considerable to do with the study of submarines and the handling of submarine mines, said: "It would be possible to transport submarines by rail from Germany to the Belgian and French coasts, once the railroad lines were secured."

Submarines Can Be Carried Over Road Without Tunnels.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—UNITED STATES naval officers say they expect Germany to get one or more of her submarines from her base on the island of Helgoland, in the North Sea, to Antwerp, Belgium, on the River Scheldt, and to attempt to harass the British Government by attacking vessels plying between France and England and the British warships in the English Channel. Regarding the transportation of submarines by rail, one said: "If there are no tunnels or narrow bridges, submarines can be transported by rail." The German embassy said there was a railroad devoid of tunnels running from Hamburg to Antwerp.

DUKE'S YACHT WITH AMERICAN CAPTAIN CAPTURES A SHIP

De Montpensier's Craft Seizes German Merchantman Off Tsingtau.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16.—The Commercial Advertiser of Honolulu, copies of which came to hand here today, relates how the Duc de Montpensier, brother of the French Pretender, the Duc of Orleans, who has offered his services to the British admiralty, captured the German merchantman Hamaguchi, which was carrying 4000 tons of nearly 4000 tons register while en route to Tsingtau in his yacht the Mering, which was commanded at the time by Capt. Henry E. Morton, an American citizen, formerly a master in the service of the Pacific Mail Steamship Co. Aug. 5, while lying in the harbor at Tsingtau, the Duke is quoted as having said: "I decided to turn my yacht over to the British Government. After a conference with Sir James Cunningham Greene, the British Ambassador to Japan, my offer was accepted and the British flag hoisted. Four 4-inch guns were mounted and, still in command of Capt. Morton, we were ordered to join the British fleet, which was mobilizing at Wei-Hai-Wei. In the meantime we were to keep an eye open for German merchantmen. "While scouting off Tsingtau we sighted the Hamaguchi. She refused to stop when we signalled, but a couple of shots across her bows convinced those on board that we meant business and she hove to. "The officers of the Hamaguchi made no resistance and we put a prize crew aboard and took her to Weihaiwei where she is now held a prize." The Mering is now a dispatch boat, the Advertiser says. Capt. Morton resigned her command as soon as she was turned over to the British.

Crown Prince's Army Again in Danger From Heavy Blows Struck by the Allies' Right Wing—French Make Important Gains Around Rheims and Take Estaires.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS.

LONDON, Oct. 16.—Another thrust from the German submarine service has robbed the British navy of the cruiser Hawke and has raised the tally of the list of warships sunk by the Germans to seven. To this must be added the virtual destruction of the cruiser Pegasus by a German warship at Zanzibar.

The Hawke, a cruiser of 7350 tons, under command of Capt. Hugh Williams, was sunk yesterday in the North Sea, the graveyard of six other warships which were the victims of German torpedoes.

The exact complement aboard the Hawke has not been announced, but in ordinary times the men numbered 550. As she was built several years ago it is probable her crew was not up to the full complement. According to one report, she had only 400 aboard. Whatever the number, only 52 men were saved and was not a single commissioned officer among them.

The Admiralty gave out the following announcement concerning the loss of the cruiser Hawke: "His Majesty's ship, Theseus, Capt. Hugh Edwards, was tacked by a submarine in the northern waters of the North yesterday afternoon, but was missed. His Majesty's ship, Hawke, Capt. H. P. E. T. Williams, was attacked about the same time and was sunk.

"The following officers with 49 men of the crew have been landed at Aberdeen from a trawler: "Boatswain Sydney Austen, Gunner James Dennis and Acting Gunner Harry Evitt. The remaining officers and men are missing.

"Further particulars will be published as soon as available. "The Hawke was a cruiser, built in 1889."

The Hawke is the British cruiser which collided with the White Star Line steamer Olympic, Sept. 20, 1911, near Osborne Bay, on the north side of the Isle of Wight. She received serious damage.

The British cruiser Hawke was of 7350 tons displacement. She was 300 feet long, of 90-foot beam, and drew 23 feet of water. She was a sister ship of the Edgar, Endymion, Grafton, Theseus and Gibraltar, and was launched in 1891.

Her armament consisted of two 9.2-inch guns, 10 6-inch guns, 12 6-pounders, five 3-pounders, two machine guns and two torpedo tubes. Her complement is given as 544 men, but she may well have had fewer on board when she went down.

The Hawke lost her ram in the collision with the liner Olympic in 1911 and since then has had a straight stem.

The Hawke was commanded, according to the British admiralty list of September, 1914, by Capt. P. E. T. Williams, and among her officers were Commander Bernard A. Pratt-Barlow and Lieutenant-Commander Robert R. Roseman.

This disaster to the Hawke happened a little more than three weeks after the sinking in the North Sea of the British cruisers Aboukir, Hogue and Cressy. These vessels succumbed to the attack of a German submarine, and with them some 60 British officers and 1400 men went to their death.

While the Hawke was laid down in June, 1889, she was launched at Chatham, March 11, 1891.

Among her officers at the time of the disaster were eight cadets. The cruisers Amphion, Pathfinder, Aboukir, Cressy, Hogue, Pegasus and Hawke and the torpedo gunboat Speed now make up the British formidable list of losses in warships in the first 10 weeks of the war. Against this the British Admiralty claims four German cruisers, two torpedo boat destroyers, one torpedo boat, three submarines and eight armed commerce destroyers. Omitting the armed merchantmen, the aggregate warship tonnage loss to England is of course, much greater than that to Germany.

In both cases, the lost ships, with the exception of the cruiser Amphion and the submarines, were older craft used for scouting purposes, the ships intended for the sterner work of a fleet action being held in safer waters for the day when Germany elects to sail from behind her naval base of Helgoland.

More important developments, however, are looked for between the Meuse and the Moselle, while the battle goes on in the west.

The French War Office made an official announcement this afternoon as follows:

The progress indicated in the communication of yesterday has been confirmed. On our left wing the field of action of the allied forces extends

LONG DROUTH IN EAST BROKEN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—A long-needed rain has come to the East, breaking the drouth that had dried up farm lands and lowered reservoirs until many communities were reduced to dire extremities. Forest fires in Connecticut and Massachusetts were checked. Beginning yesterday the rainfall has been steady and heavy, extending northward from the South Atlantic States into New England.

Before night, according to experts of the Weather Bureau, sections that have been without a shower for nearly two months, will have had from half an inch to an inch of rain.

Light Rain Falls in Boston, First in Seven Weeks.

BOSTON, Oct. 16.—Smoke-shrouded Boston awoke today to the welcome sight of a light rain, which aroused hopes that the long drouth would be broken and that the numerous forest and peat bog fires in the State would be quenched. In the last seven weeks less than a quarter of an inch of rain has fallen. Late crops in many parts of the State were seriously damaged.

Forest Fires in Connecticut Checked by Rain.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 16.—Rain which began falling in Connecticut last night will materially check it if it does not extinguish the many fires in the woodlands of the State, some of which were growing to serious proportions. It will bring the much-needed "damp" to keep the tobacco crop at its best condition and breaks a drouth of about six weeks.

Be Wise Advertise and Realize

"Keeping everlastingly at it brings success," is the truest proverb ever written.

Look at the big successful merchants in St. Louis. They have not attained their bigness and wealth by loafing on the job.

Sure not. They are now, and always have been consistent steady advertisers in the POST-DISPATCH. In other words, they "keep everlastingly at it" as they did on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week, when these merchants bought more advertising space in the POST-DISPATCH alone, than in three out of the four of its competitors all added together.

We have printed the Tuesday and Wednesday figures in this space. This is the way they distributed their "copy" on Thursday:

the present time from the region of Ypres to the sea.

"The news of the day indicates gains at several points along the front," the official bulletin issued last night by the War Office says. "On the left wing, to the north of Lys, we have taken Estaires. On the center, to the north and east of Rheims, we have made an advance of nearly two kilometers (about a mile and a quarter).

"On the heights of the Meuse and in the Woerwe region we have made gains to the south of St. Mihiel and near Marcheville."

French Guns in Trees Inflict Heavy Losses on Germans.

In the early days of the war the Germans seemed to have the advantage of the allies in equipment and handling of machine guns. In this hilly wooded country the French have shown that they also can use them with great effect. The German rush through the Argonne forest as well as in the hills of Woerwe, met with a telling force of gatlings from tree tops where guns were so cleverly concealed that it was impossible to detect them and every effort to regain lost ground cost dearly and failed. The French Alpine contingent distinguished itself in this rough country.

The French are now in possession of the route from Nancy to Metz as far as Dagny on the Lorraine border and menace the route from Verdun to Metz in the neighborhood of Etain, endangering communication of the Crown Prince's army with the German fortified camp.

Besides the chateaux, the 149th French Infantry (about 3000) has covered itself with glory. After taking a village at the point of the bayonet the infantrymen were obliged to abandon the place because of a murderous artillery fire. They went back to the attack on the following day, retook the village and held it in spite of a continual bombardment.

An entire German brigade (about 6000) was sent to dislodge them, but the 149th held the position, inflicting a stinging defeat on their assailants and taking 160 prisoners.

Regiment Takes German Trenches at Bayonet Point.

At another solidly entrenched village the same regiment swept determinedly forward, digging in step by step until they got right up to the trenches of the enemy, which they carried gallantly at the point of the bayonet, thus gaining a point needed for the support of the entire army. For this exploit the regiment has been named in orders.

Alsace continues to be the scene of daily struggles for the possession of points of advantage, the result of which it is difficult to ascertain, as fortunes vary so rapidly. Towns are taken and retaken repeatedly. The heavy fighting in the southern end of the battle line indicates that the Germans have profited by the weakening of the French forces to regain ground they had lost there.

Occupation of Ostend, Momentarily Expected, Will Change Battle Tactics

LONDON, Oct. 15.—As was the case a number of troops to be between 300,000 and 400,000.

Regular traffic on the main lines in Germany has been suspended for the last four days, according to a Copenhagen dispatch to the Daily News, to allow the transportation as quickly as possible to the western field of an army of 90,000 freshly trained men.

Steamer Service Suspended.

The last of the refugees have come from Ostend and steamer service between that city and England has been suspended until further notice. Thousands already have reached the British Isles, adding to the multitude of unwilling expatriated Belgians.

The British press today is inclined to class the taking of Ostend with that of Antwerp. In other words, they concede it would be a moral and spectacular victory for the Germans, but of no great strategic significance. Whether this be so future events only can show, but the British contention is that with the sea binding the German right it loses a weapon heretofore effectively used.

It is pointed out that the chief success the Germans have attained in the past have been derived from the tactics of envelopment. The channel barrier now prevents this and a decisive blow from the Germans, it is argued, can be delivered only after the allied front has been penetrated.

The arrival of the Germans near Ostend, however, straightens out their line in Belgium so that it now runs almost due south, connecting with their forces in France. Being jam up to the coast at the north leaves the Germans without a flank anywhere. With no flank to turn, it will be necessary for the allies to break the line somewhere and the fiercest efforts to effect this is likely to continue along the Belgian frontier.

The Canadian troops recently disembarked in England are today being distributed to military camps.

2000 Frenchmen Swim River Lys With Horses, and Push Back Germans

ON THE BATTLE FRONT, Thursday, via Paris, Oct. 15.—Two thousand French cuirassiers have distinguished themselves by a daring feat in swimming the River Lys, where it flows deep and swift. They overtook the Germans, who were awaiting them on the other side with machine guns and heavy artillery.

The French horsemen made a long detour during the night. One man swam the river with a rope, then dragged over a cable, which he attached to a tree. The others, holding the rope, crossed singly with their horses through the swirling waters. Arriving on the opposite bank, the French drew up in line and charged the German flank at Menerville, driving the enemy back for several weeks.

Battle of Four Rivers Ended.

The present war differs from all previous wars, in as much as no one knows just when a battle begins and when it ends. What is known as the Battle of the Four Rivers, the Somme, the Oise and the Aisne, may be regarded as ended and a fresh stage of the operations begun with the fall of Antwerp and the renewed appearance of a strong allied army in Belgian territory, where it has made its presence felt by the capture of Ypres.

Meanwhile, the siege of the German positions further south has become merely desultory. Some parts of the line, where a perfect hail of shells was a daily occurrence five weeks ago, now are enlivened by artillery fire only at rare intervals. At one very important point today only 30 shells were fired throughout the 24 hours. The infantry on both sides, however, is kept constantly on the alert, although the allies have found it possible to reduce the strength of the troops actually on the firing line.

The remainder of the very strong allied forces at these various points are kept in reserve within measurable distance, ready for any emergency. The harbor works are undamaged."

Germany Took 500 Guns and 5000 Prisoners at Antwerp

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—The German Embassy today received the following official wireless report from Berlin:

"Official headquarters reports that near Antwerp between 400 and 500 prisoners were taken, that among the war booty are 500 cannon, 4000 tons of grain and plenty of wool, metal and cattle. The harbor works are undamaged."

AMERICAN LOANS TO BELLIGERENTS NOT PROHIBITED

BRITISH EXPERT ARRIVES TO GET OUR TRADE GOING

GRAIN MEN HERE MAKE BIG PROFIT EXPORTING WHEAT

Administration Disapproved Morgan Plan, but Had No Authority to Forbid.

Sir George Paish, Exchequer Adviser, Comes to Arrange Exchange Basis.

By Wire From the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—American bankers, individually or collectively, may make loans, large or small, to the nations of Europe now at war. There is no law on the statute books which prohibits it, and there is no ruling of international law by which they can be prevented from doing so.

The highest authority the correspondent of the Post-Dispatch learned the foregoing, as well as the fact that when President Wilson stopped J. P. Morgan and a group of New York bankers, a few weeks after the outbreak of the war in Europe, from making a loan to France, he did so by disavowal, and not by reference to any power possessed by the Chief Executive to force them to refuse the loan.

The flat statement of the administration, issued through the State Department, that contraband and conditions of war, including guns and ammunition, could be sold by American citizens to citizens of the Governments at war, or to the Governments themselves, without violating the neutrality of the United States, led to inquiry today as to the making of loans, and the right of bankers and banks to do so.

The statement was based on an article of the second Hague convention of 1907, which said:

"A neutral power is not required to prevent the exportation or transit for the account of either belligerent, of arms, munitions and in general, of anything which may be useful to any army or fleet."

The administration feels that it should not officially review any loans bankers or banks have in mind making to the belligerents, and if the administration is asked to review such, the bankers and banks will be urged not to make them. But the administration, from the President down, does not want to take the position of dictating to the bankers or banks when they act strictly within the law governing the nation's neutrality, and will not do so, even in the event a protest is filed by one of the belligerent Powers.

There is no information here showing that any bankers or banks are contemplating making loans to any of the belligerents. It is known that, in addition to France, Germany tried to persuade American bankers to make a loan in that country. It was said James Speyer & Co. of New York were approached on the matter, and only dropped it after the President, through the Secretary of State, persuaded Morgan & Co. not to make a loan to France.

Petrograd Dispatch Tells of Fighting Just Outside Capital of Russian Poland, Where a Severe German Reverse Previously Had Been Reported.

FIGHTING LINE NOW EXTENDS 160 MILES

Czar's General Oct. 2 Proposed That Commander of Przemyśl Surrender to Avoid Further Loss of Life, but This Was Rejected.

By Associated Press.

PETROGRAD, Oct. 15, via London, Oct. 15, 3:15 p. m.—Fighting between German and Russian troops is now going on within eight miles of Warsaw, capital of Russian Poland.

Russian Fighting Line Now Extends 160 Miles

LONDON, Oct. 15.—Taking the unreluctant dispatches arriving in London from Petrograd, Berlin and Vienna as a basis of information, it is almost impossible to determine with any accuracy the situation in the eastern theater of the war. The main armies of the contending forces, the Russians on one side and the Austrians and Germans on the other, are in close touch over an immense front, which evidently will gradually extend from the Baltic to the Carpathians. In spite of the claims of victory here and defeat there, there is reason to believe that, generally speaking, the fighting so far has been confined to cavalry engagements and that a general action has not yet begun.

Russian Artillery Effective.

A Reuter dispatch from Petrograd says: "Refugees who fled from Warsaw with the approach of the Germans are returning. The Russians have beaten back the German advance, chiefly through the excellent work of the artillery."

Fighting is now in progress 30 miles from Warsaw. The town of Grodzisk, which was captured by the Germans, has been retaken by the Russians. The fighting a few days ago was within seven miles of Warsaw.

"The Germans are making excellent use of aeroplanes, which signal by means of long black streamers whenever they pass over Russian batteries. The fighting line of the opposing forces extends 160 miles from north of Warsaw to a point due south of Przemyśl. Half of Galicia is occupied by the Russians."

A Reuter dispatch from Vienna by way of Amsterdam gives the following Austrian official communication:

"Yesterday, the 15th of October, the fortified heights of Starasol, Galicia. Our attacks on Stry and Sambor also have been successful."

"North of the river Strawa we have occupied the heights south of Przemyśl. Our pursuit of the Russians over the Carpathians has been successful. We have reached Wyssok and Skole."

"Przemyśl Surrender Near."

An observer from the army besieging Przemyśl, according to a Petrograd dispatch to the Havas Agency by way of Paris, has returned to the Russian capital and reports the Russians have bottled up the fortress with rapid fire. The city has been destroyed. On Wednesday 3000 Austrians attempted a sortie. The Russians allowed them to approach close to the Russian lines and then annihilated them with rapid fire.

The surrender of Przemyśl, says this observer, is only a question of days.

Austrians Declare Their Troops Are at Russian's Heels.

MANCHESTER, Mass., Oct. 15.—Dr. Konstantin Rodzko Dumba, Austro-Hungarian Ambassador to this country, last night announced the receipt by wireless of an official statement from his home Government as follows:

"After the last unsuccessful attempt to force Przemyśl on the southern side, yesterday, the backward movement of the Russians from the fortress became general. Our own cavalry had reached the fortress from the west. The enemy, perplexed by the quickness of our operations in Russian Poland and Galicia, tried in vain to protect attacks on the fortress by detaching troops to the west, which could not resist our approaching armies. The Fifth and Sixth Russian Infantry divisions, attacked by us at Lancut, fled toward the San River. A division of Cosacke and a brigade of infantry, in strong position east of Dnyow, on the San, were repulsed. Our troops are everywhere at the heels of the Russians."

Dr. Dumba, in a statement dealing with the recently published report that the Russians had evacuated Lemberg, said this seemed improbable, and was, in his opinion, the result of a misunderstanding.

"The last wireless of Count von Berchtold, sent today," he said, "does not mention Lemberg, and the statement would also be in contradiction of the reports that the Russians still maintain their positions east of Przemyśl."

Russian Proposal, Oct. 3, for Przemyśl Surrender Was Rejected.

VIENNA, Oct. 15, via Amsterdam and London, Oct. 15.—It was announced today that on the afternoon of Oct. 3, the

Russia Has Suffered No Disaster; in Strong Position, Expert Says

By the Military Expert of the New York Evening Sun.

Published in St. Louis Exclusively in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, by Special Arrangement With the Sun.

It too much was plainly expected of the Russians in the first two months of the war, it is clear now that far too great importance is in many quarters being attached to the fact that the Russian armies are now standing on the defensive far within the Polish frontier, and relatively near to Warsaw, the capital of Russian Poland.

What has happened is this: On or about Aug. 20, the right wing of the whole Russian military force, which mobilized back of Warsaw and on a line from East Prussia to Lemberg in Galicia, stepped over into East Prussia, drove rapidly west and reached the fortifications of Koenigsberg, and approached the line of the Vistula toward Thorn and Graudenz.

After 10 days of prosperous invasion, in which the Russians succeeded in persuading the Germans to weaken their battle line in France to re-enforce their troops in the east, the left wing of that army, which constituted the right of the whole Russian army, was routed at Tannenberg Sept. 2, and lost heavily. As a consequence of this defeat, the whole Russian right under Gen. Rennenkampf was compelled to retire rapidly, to evacuate all of East Prussia. In fact, it was not until this army passed the Niemen that it recovered fully from the effects of the Tannenberg disaster.

About Sept. 28 Rennenkampf again took the offensive, drove the Germans out of Russian territory between the Niemen and the East Prussian frontier in the struggles which have been named the battle of Augustowo, and presently was back on his old ground inside East Prussia and about Lyck and Wirbalen, east of Koenigsberg. There he now is, still on the offensive, so German official reports concede, but apparently checked, at least temporarily, by the Germans, reinforced in turn.

Still on Offensive.

Meantime, starting about Aug. 25, the Russian left, far down by the Galician frontier, moved west through Galicia, defeated the Austrian center before Lemberg, Sept. 1, their right at Halicz a day later, and finally, about Sept. 6, crushed the left at Tomaszow and Rawaruska, drove the whole of the Austrian military force west across the San River, captured Jaroslau, invaded Przemyśl and proceeded rapidly on toward the Cracow forts.

When the Russian advance reached Tarnow, 50 miles from Cracow, they found the remnant of the Austrian army drawn up behind the Dnec River prepared to meet them, and they found also strong German forces on the same line. While the Russian left was preparing to force this line, the last so far as Austrian Galicia was concerned, the situation in the center to the north and east developed, and began to exercise a fortress of Przemyśl received from Gen. Radko Dimitrieff, of the Russian army of investment, a request to surrender. The proposal was promptly rejected.

Gen. Dimitrieff's communication was as follows:

"Good luck, which left the Austrian army with its last successful encounter against our troops, has given me the opportunity of investing the fortress of Przemyśl, the defense of which has been entrusted to you. Assume that it is not possible to send you help from the outside. In order to avoid useless bloodshed, the present seems to me the right moment to propose negotiations for the surrender of the fortress. If you surrender it will be possible to obtain honorable conditions for yourself and your garrison from the highest commander in chief of the Russian forces."

"If Your Excellency wishes to begin negotiations, I beg that you will communicate the conditions to our authorized delegate, First Lieutenant Wandan, I embrace this opportunity to express my high esteem to Your Excellency."

The Austrian answer to this communication, which was sent immediately, ran as follows:

"To the Commander: I find it beneath my dignity to give to your affronting proposition the answer which it deserves."

HOW BRITAIN'S SOLDIERS LIVE AND WORK ALONG THE 'LONG BATTLE LINE'

British Official Report

BOMB DROPPED ON AMMUNITION TRUCK DESTROYING TRAIN

British Aviator, With Hand Grenade, Believed to Have Caused Destruction of Motor Convoy, but French Ascribe Same Exploit to Their Dragoons.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS.

LONDON, Oct. 15, 11:16 a. m.—A descriptive account of some recent developments and action in France, sent by an eye-witness attached to the British General Headquarters, is given out by the Official Press Bureau. The account is dated Oct. 13, "in France," and is in part as follows:

"On the firing line the men sleep and obtain shelter in dugouts they have hollowed or cut under the sides of the trenches. These refugees are raised slightly above the bottom of the trench, so as to remain dry in wet weather. The floor of the trench also is sloped for purposes of drainage.

"Some of the trenches are provided with overhead cover, which gives protection from the weather, as well as from shrapnel balls and splinters of shells. Considerable ingenuity has been exercised by the men in naming these shelters. Among the favorite designations are the 'Hotel Cecil,' the 'Ritz Hotel,' the 'Billets Doux Hotel,' and the 'Rue Dornier'.

"On the road barricades are to be found boards bearing this notice: 'This way to the Prussians.'

Enemy's Operations Are Heard Nightly.

"Obstacles of every kind abound, and at night each side can hear the enemy driving pickets for entanglements, digging trou-de-loup (wolf holes), or working forward by sapping.

"In some places obstacles have been constructed by both sides so close together that some have suggested that both sides provide working parties to perform this fatiguing duty alternately, inasmuch as the work of the enemy is almost indistinguishable from ours, and serves the same purpose.

"Quarries and caves, to which allusion already has been made, provide ample accommodation for whole battalions, and most comfortable are the shelters which have been constructed in them. The northern slopes of the Aisne Valley, fortunately, are very steep, and this to a great extent protects us from the enemy's shells, many of which pass harmlessly over our heads.

"At all points subject to shell fire, access to the firing line from behind is provided by communication trenches. These are now so good that it is possible to cross in safety a fire-swept zone to the advance trenches from billets in villages, bivouacs in quarries or other places, where the headquarters of units happen to be.

Airmen Drop Grenade, Reports Fireworks.

"It already has been mentioned that, according to information obtained from the enemy, 15 Germans were killed by a bomb dropped on the ammunition wagon of a cavalry column. It was thought at the time that this might have been the work of our aviator, who reported that he had dropped a hand grenade on this column and had then got a bird's-eye view of the finest display of fireworks he had ever seen.

"From corroborative evidence it now appears that this was the case; that the grenade thrown by him probably was the cause of the destruction of a small convoy carrying field gun and howitzer ammunition, which has been found a total wreck.

"Along the road lie 14 motor lorries (trucks), their iron skeletons twisted and broken. Everything inflammable has been burned, as have the stripped trees—some with split trunks—on either side of the road. Of the drivers, nothing remains except tattered boots and charred scraps of clothing while the ground within a radius of 50 yards of the wagons is littered with pieces of iron, split brass cartridge cases, which have exploded, and some fixed gun ammunition with live shells.

How Explosions May Have Spread.

"If it were possible to reconstruct this incident, if it was, in fact, brought about as supposed, the grenade from the aeroplane must have detonated on the leading lorry on one side of the road and caused the cartridges carried by it to explode.

"Three vehicles immediately in the rear must then have been set on fire, with a similar result. Behind these are groups of four and two vehicles, so jammed together as to suggest that they must have collided in desperate attempts to stop. On the other side of the road, almost level with the leading wagon, are four more vehicles, which probably were fired by the explosion of the first.

"If this appalling destruction was due to one hand grenade, it is an illustration of the potentialities of a small amount of high explosive detonated in the right spot, while the nature of the place where the disaster occurred—a narrow road between high trees—is a testimony to the skill of the aviator.

"It is only fair to add that some French newspapers claim this damage to the enemy was caused by the action of a detachment of their dragoons."

Witness Tells How Cossacks Drive Cattle on Barrier, Ride Over Them

LONDON, Oct. 15.—A correspondent of the Daily Mail, who has been an eye-witness of the East Prussia campaign, points out that the German official accounts of the fighting in this region are strictly accurate as regards victories, their policy being not to issue such reports until victory is absolutely settled, but, he says, they do not officially record defeats. Speaking of the fighting he says:

"Windmills dot the country and have led to the use of a curious device by the Russians. Russian agents obtained possession of several of these windmills during engagements and signalled by turning the wheels so as to disclose the Russian troops the movements of the enemy behind the ridges upon which the windmills stood. The strategem was discovered and many agents working it were shot. I have personal knowledge of the execution of six of these."

"Another device, to me one of the most astonishing I have ever seen in the field, and which is not generally known, is the following:

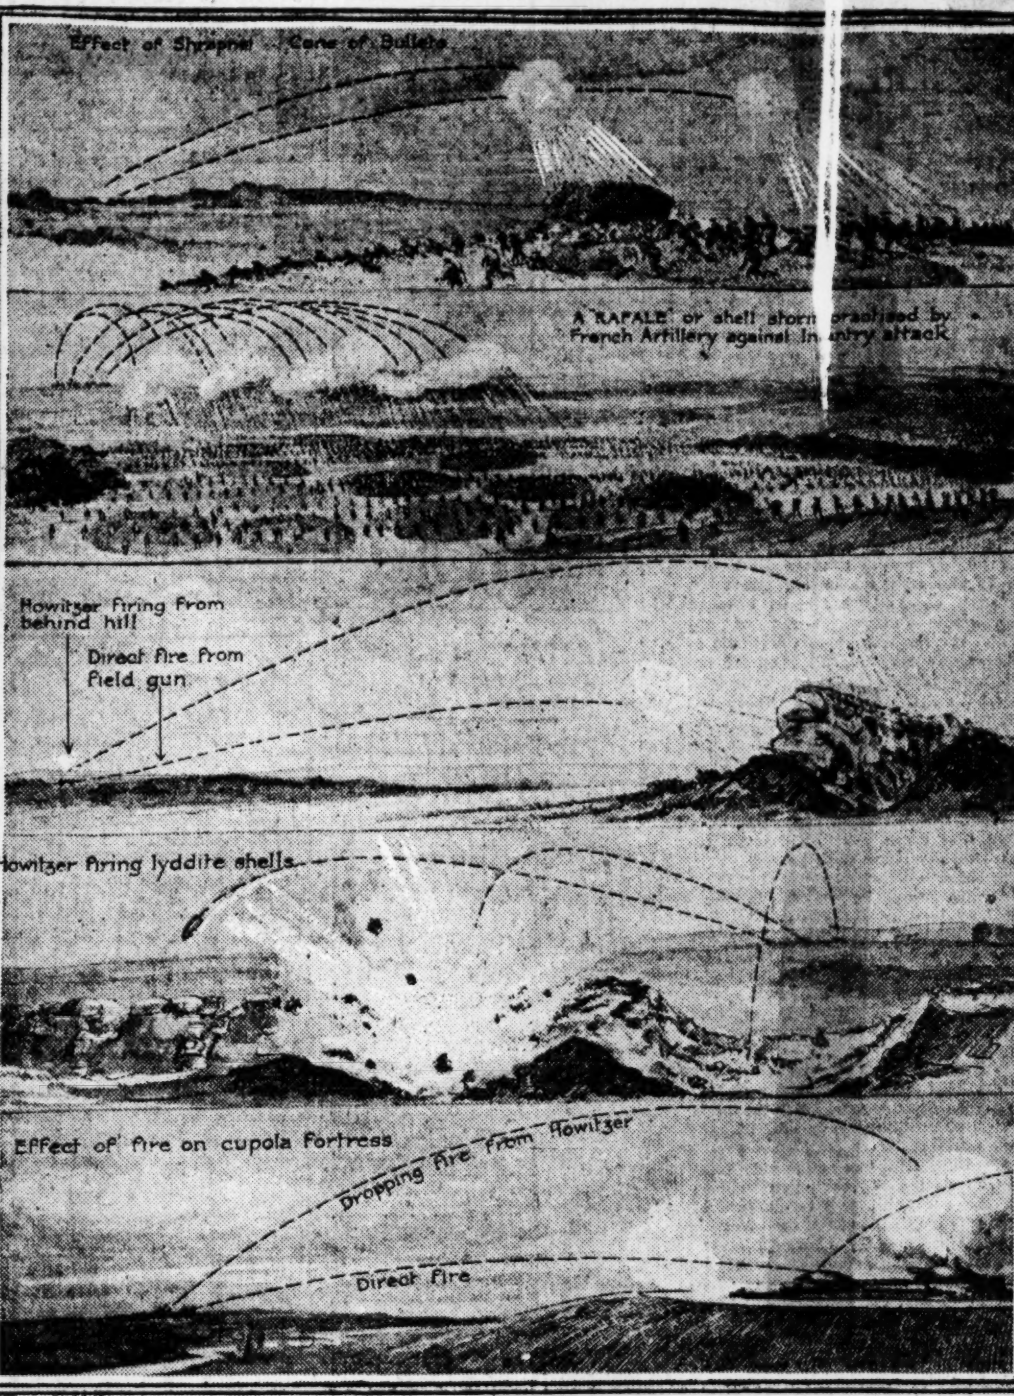

"Barbed wire is in use here as everywhere, particularly to protect field and machine guns. Now it happens that East Prussia is largely a grazing country. Imagine the thrilling spectacle of a troop of Cossacks sweeping down upon one of these batteries, driving sheep and cattle before them right into the tangled mass of wire, charging their horses over the platform of flesh and sabering the gunners in the very trenches behind. This plan was quickly copied by the Germans, who were equally fearless and successful in carrying it out."

"Describing Gen. von Hindenburg's great victory at Tannenberg, the correspondent says:

"The army under Gen. Shilinski had advanced in two main bodies, one from Bielostok through Lyck and the other from Milawa through Sondau. After constant fighting, in which the Germans offered comparatively little resistance, the Russian vanguard emerged from the

Shell Fire and Its Effects

Drawn by D. Macpherson

Copyright by the New York Herald and printed exclusively in St. Louis by the Post-Dispatch, by special arrangement with the Herald and the London Sphere.

THE above illustrations are intended to show the various kinds of gun-fire employed in modern artillery actions. The first diagram shows the effect of shrapnel fire on advancing infantry. The shell is timed to explode, when once the range is found, at a certain distance; it is not, therefore, necessary for it to hit an object as soon as it has traveled the requisite distance. It explodes, raining its death-dealing bullets and fragments of shell on the enemy.

The second diagram shows a "rafael" or "shell-storm." This is the method practised by batteries of French artillery to prevent the advance of infantry. The shells are fired at a high angle and burst in midair above the ranks of the advancing troops, with the result that the whole area to be traversed in the advance is covered by exploding shrapnel shells, making it almost impossible for any troops to cross the ground so covered.

The third diagram gives a comparison between the effects of howitzer and field gun fire on men in trenches. The howitzer, it will be noticed, is firing from behind a covering hill and does not send a direct fire into the trenches, but drops its shells behind the defending earthworks. The field gun, which is not hidden behind a covering hill, fires directly at the trenches; the shrapnel is timed to burst just as it nears the earthworks. With the field gun the shell does not do so much damage, because of the protecting earthwork.

The fourth diagram shows howitzers firing high-explosive shells against entrenchments; the curves which the shells describe through the air are indicated, and the havoc they work when they actually hit their object is graphically shown. Unlike the bursting shrapnel shell, the particular howitzer shown in this diagram fires a high-explosive projectile which bursts only on contact. When a shell containing high explosive does hit its object the result is a terrific explosion. For hundreds of yards round the actual point of contact the tremendous shock is felt.

The fifth diagram shows the effect of various kinds of fire on a cupola fortress. The howitzer sends its shells high into the air so as to drop them onto the iron covering of the cupola. This is the only effective fire there is against cupola forts, because the direct fire of other guns is practically useless for the reasons indicated in the diagram. If the cupola is of the disappearing kind it is difficult to place a direct shot, but assuming that a direct shot has been fired, if it strikes the cupola the projectile simply delivers a glancing blow and rebounds. It will be remembered that the redoubtable cupola forts at Liege and Namur were only captured because the Germans brought up their huge 16.45-inch siege howitzers, which so battered the cupolas that they were reduced to a mass of scrap iron. And then it will again be remembered that the German tactics were more to destroy the parapets on which the forts were mounted than the actual forts themselves.

As showing the deadly effectiveness of shell fire, the German official news bulletin yesterday contained the statement that bursting shells from the German side repeatedly killed, at one time, 40 to 50 soldiers in the Antwerp trenches.

swamps and reached firmer ground near Osterode.

"This was the moment at which the German commander, Gen. von Hindenburg, displayed his skill as a strategist. It is said that in maneuvers held previously on the same ground he had solved this identical problem. Troops arrived from the Rhine and Belgium, artillery was rushed from Thorn and Grodek and all was ready.

"While the powerful center advanced from Osterode on Aug. 27, von Hindenburg hurled a mighty force at the Russians' left at Meldenburg, captured the town and drove the enemy back into the swamps and lakes. A powerful German reserve force was now thrown upon Osterode, bending back the enemy's right and forcing him into the swamps precisely as the left had been. The Russian position was practically this: On the outside, the land sloped up towards the surrounding enemy; on the inside was a network of swamp and lakes, on three sides stood the Germans; on the fourth side escape was only possible through swamps and boggy streams.

"Then followed one of the most frightful battles of history—a battle which has caused some of the German officers to go mad from its very horrors. The Germans closed in, concentrating a terrible fire on the Russians, who were now quite unable to maneuver their guns, which sank in the mud. Horses and men were smothered. The nature of the region caused the Russians to break up into helpless groups, many of which forced their way further and further into the terrible swamps.

MARCONI PLANT AT HONOLULU IS ORDERED CLOSED

U. S. to Enforce Penalty Unless Message Giving Germans' Position Is Explained.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Rear Admiral Moore, commandant of the naval station at Honolulu, was ordered today to close the Marconi wireless station there within 24 hours unless the company gave a satisfactory explanation of the sending of a wireless dispatch announcing the arrival of the German gunboat Geler.

Admiral Moore had reported the sending of the message during the temporary absence yesterday of the naval officer on duty at the station as a censor. The gunboat just had arrived from Tientsin conveying the German steamer Lockwood, which had been impressed into service as a cotter.

Reports from Honolulu that the Geler, after taking on half the amount of coal to which she was entitled under the neutrality laws, was about to be interned until the end of the war, were not explained in official dispatches. It was said that if the gunboat had been interned, the action must have been voluntary on the part of the Germans in order to escape capture. Officials made it plain that the gun-boat of the department in regard to the wireless station's alleged violation of neutrality would not be affected by the future movements of the Geler.

Marconi Service to Hawaii Was Started Sept. 24.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—Wireless service between the Hawaiian Islands and San Francisco by the Marconi company was started Sept. 24 by an interchange of messages between President Wilson and Gov. Pinkham. Another company remains in the field, and the islands are served by transpacific cable.

SUIT ON $809 NOTE LOST

Verdict for George Gebus and Wife in Cattleman's Action. A jury in Circuit Judge McQuillin's court yesterday decided in favor of the defendant in the case of Thomas Carter, a cattle trader, who sued George Gebus and wife and F. W. Gleason, president of the Baden Bank, on a promissory note for $809.20. The note was made by Mr. and Mrs. Gebus and Gleason's name appeared on it as indorsers.

Carter said he loaned money on the note. Mr. and Mrs. Gebus and they did not repay him. They said there was nothing due. Gleason made the defense that he did not know he was indorsing a promissory note when he signed his name on the paper, but simply kept it in his name as a request for the latter would know how to

Princess Mary Appeals for Christmas Presents for Men at the Front

LONDON, Oct. 15. PRINCESS MARY has issued an appeal in which she says:

"I want you all to help me send a Christmas present from the whole nation to every sailor afloat and every soldier at the front. On Christmas eve, when, like the shepherds of old, they keep their watch, doubtless their thoughts will turn to home and loved ones left behind. Perhaps, too, they will recall the days when, as children themselves, they were wont to hang up their stockings, wondering what the morrow had in store.

"I am sure we will be happier on Christmas morning to feel that we have helped by sending our little token of love and sympathy—something useful or of permanent value, the making of which may be the means of providing employment in the trades adversely affected by the war."

It is hoped that the appeal will result in the raising of $500,000 for providing gifts taking the form of embossed brass tobacco or cigarette boxes, pipe and tinder lighters, and candies for the Indian troops.

MAN WHO KILLED ARCHDUKE MAKES SPEECH IN COURT

Glad He Shot Austrian Heir, but Regrets Ending Duchess' Life.

By Associated Press.

ROME, Oct. 15.—Far from repenting the assassination of Archduke Francis Ferdinand of Austria, Gavrilo Princip is proud of his deed, as it was not a crime, but the protest of Slav peoples against the despotic organization represented by the heir to the Austrian throne, he declared in court, according to details received here of the arraignment on Tuesday at Sarajevo of the Bosnian assassin, his wife and 21 other alleged accomplices.

It was not his object to kill a man, the youthful Princip is reported to have said, but to show the world the desperation of the Slav population under Austrian domination.

Austria Trampled on Them. After the Slavs had tried by every means, legal and illegal, to obtain justice and recognition of their rights, Princip said, Austria continued to trample on their nationality, language, culture, religion and everything which the Slav nation as a whole or families as individuals considered most sacred, using all the weapons at its disposal.

"The moment arrived when rebellion was a duty, when the only thing possible was to protest striking at the individual who incarnated such a despotic, retrograde and cruel organization," Princip said.

The prisoner grew eloquent as he proceeded, saying that he was no more a criminal than those Hungarians, Italians, Poles or Irishmen "who, because of the same distressing conditions in their countries during the nineteenth century, followed Kossuth, Mazzini, Mikolajewski and Daniel O'Connell in attacking tyrants and tyranny, regardless of the means they used."

Regrets Death of Duchess. Princip admitted that he regretted the death of the Archduke's wife. He said he alone was responsible for the assassination, and that the others accused with him were more unconscious instruments than thinking factors in the crime.

The Judge interrupted Princip several times during his narrative, but Princip insisted that he asked only the right to demonstrate his point of view, in order that he might not be considered a common criminal. This was not, he said, because he hoped or desired to escape punishment. He knew before the murder that the sacrifice of his life was necessary to hasten the day of the liberation of his brothers, he said. Here the Judge stopped his remarks.

Sweden to Be Put on Basis of Holland as to Imports. WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Sweden probably, and Denmark possibly, will be put on the basis of Holland in regard to the right to import from America foodstuffs and other products which may be regarded as conditional contraband. Under this arrangement such commodities would not be subject to "detention" by British and French cruisers in the North Sea and the North Atlantic, if covered by an agreement that Sweden would not permit them to pass from her borders into Germany.

Mr. Ekenberg, the Swedish Minister, had a conference at the State Department today with Acting Secretary Lansing, and was asked to furnish a list of the articles on which the Swedish Government has placed an embargo against exportation to belligerents. Such a declaration was required from Holland by the British Government before it would refrain from diverting cargoes of conditional contraband to Rotterdam and other Dutch ports.

1203 Officers on Revised British Casualty Records. Correspondence of the Associated Press. LONDON, Oct. 9.—An officers' casualty list, which embraces the losses from Sept. 29 to Oct. 5, shows a total, in killed, wounded and missing, of 116. Added to the previous totals up to Sept. 25, and deducting for wounded men who have died and missing men who have been accounted for, the record shows Great Britain's casualties in officers as 1203, of whom there were 280 killed, 625 wounded and 298 missing.

Fifty-three organizations are mentioned in the latest list. The Royal Field artillery had 30 officers killed and five wounded and the South Wales Borders three killed and three wounded. In the other units the losses ran from six down to one.

Government's Stand Approved by the British Labor Party

ALASKA COAL LAND LEASING BILL NOW BEFORE PRESIDENT

Signature to Measure Recently Given Up as Dead Will Open Vast Fuel Deposits.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Given up as dead legislation less than a week ago, the Alaska coal land leasing bill, revived at the instance of President Wilson and Secretary Lane, awaits only the President's signature to become a law. It passed the House yesterday virtually without opposition.

The bill is designed to throw open to lease the immense coal resources of the Territory. It provides for a maximum of 10,000 acres to be leased to any one person. The Bering River, Matanuska and Nenana fields will be the first surveyed, the Government retaining 5120 acres of the Bering and 7680 acres of the Matanuska deposits and one-half of all other areas.

Leases will be made in blocks of 40 acres or multiples of that amount not exceeding 2560 acres in any one lease, and to run not more than 50 years.

Royalties paid by lessees must be at least 2 cents a ton, with a maximum of 10 cents. Proceeds from leases will be used only to reimburse the Government for building the Alaskan Railway.

"This is the end of an eight-year struggle," said Secretary Lane last night. "Three-fourths of a true conservation program—a railroad for Alaska, a new reclamation law, and the coal leasing bill—have been crystallized into law. The other two measures, which already have passed the House and will come before the Senate in December, are the water-power bill and a measure under which our oil, phosphate and potash lands may be opened and put to use."

Lung Trouble Yielded to This Medicine

If you are suffering with serious lung trouble, it will pay to fully investigate Eckman's Alternative, a remedy which has caused many recoveries. One follows:—

5233 Girard Av., Phila., Pa. "Gentlemen—In the winter of 1903 I had an attack of grippe, followed by pneumonia, and later by lung trouble. In the winter of 1904 I had a cough, night sweats, fever and raised quantities of a white-looking stuff and later I had many hemorrhages; at one time three in three successive days. A physician treated me, I was ordered to the mountains, but did not go. Eckman's Alternative was recommended by a friend. After taking a small quantity I had the first quiet sleep for weeks. My improvement was marked from the first. I gained strength and weight and appetite. I never had another hemorrhage and my cough gradually lessened until entirely gone. I am perfectly well. (Abbreviated.)

77 PASSENGERS, 92 OF SHIP'S CREW SAVED IN COLLISION

Metapan, Which Was Sunk Outside New York Harbor, May Be Refloated.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—With Capt. J. Spencer and the main portion of her crew on board, the United Fruit Co. steamer Metapan today lies partly submerged on a sandbar in Ambrose Channel, scarcely 200 yards from the scene of her collision yesterday afternoon with the Hawaiian-American Line freight steamer, the Iowan, outbound for San Francisco by way of the Panama Canal.

The Metapan sank by the head, but the forward bulkhead held against the rush of water and Capt. Spencer and officers of the United Fruit Co. today hoped to be able to take off her cargo, and possibly refloat her.

Had the shoals been another hundred yards away, Capt. Spencer declared, the Metapan would have gone down with a probable heavy loss of life among her 77 passengers and crew of 92 officers and men.

The Iowan, which carried no passengers, anchored last night at the entrance to Ambrose Channel. She was only slightly damaged by the collision.

The Metapan's passengers were rescued by vessels in the lower bay.

The Metapan, inbound from Southern ports, carried a cargo of 30,000 bunches of bananas and 60,000 bags of coffee. The ill-fated trip to New York, which was terminated by the collision, was the first the boat had made to this port under the American flag. She was one of the first to change her registry when the new shipping bill was passed by Congress.

She was 380 feet long, with a 50-foot beam and with full load drew 23 feet. The United Fruit Co. placed a value upon her of about $750,000.

CASE LIKE CAMPBELL SUIT DECIDED IN EAST

Change in Will Made After Witnessing of Original Held to Be Legal.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—An issue almost identical with one raised over the legality of the will of Multimillionaire James Campbell of St. Louis has been decided in Newark, N. J., by Judge Martin of the Orphans' Court.

It has been alleged that some of the bequests of the Campbell will were not included in the document at the time the witnesses affixed their signatures, and were filed in by Campbell at a later date. Some lawyers have declared that such provisions are not legal bequests.

In the Newark case it was alleged that the first sheet of the will in the $2,000,000 Runkle case had replaced a sheet originally there. The change was conceded, but the beneficiary under the will contended that the substitution occurred before the execution of a subsequent codicil. Judge Martin held that the substitution would be presumed to have been made before the codicil, and upheld the sheet as a part of the document.

William L. Hulick received a large legacy in the first page of the will, which was contested by Harry Dunkle, the heir at law.

Hulick was represented by Howard Taylor and John G. Jackson of New York, and Dunkle by former Attorney-General Griggs.

DRIVER KILLED, BOY HURT AS CAR HITS HORSES

Rain Kept Motorman From Seeing Wagon, Witnesses Tell the Police.

Christian Buehler, 35 years old, of 1915 Warren street, a driver for the Marquard & Schrepper Hauling Co., 1904 Warren street, was killed last night when a Wellton car struck his team at Nineteenth and Morgan streets.

George Wahl, 16, of 1640 North Nineteenth street, who was riding with Buehler, was seriously injured.

Rain at the time of the accident prevented the driver or the motorman from seeing more than a few feet, witnesses told the police. The car struck the horses, knocking them down, and breaking the tongue of the wagon.

Buehler and Wahl were thrown from their seats to the pavement. Buehler was dead when an ambulance in which he was placed reached the city hospital. Physicians said that his death probably was caused by internal injuries. He also suffered a rash on the head.

Wahl's condition, physicians said, was serious. The motorman and conductor were taken to the Carr Street station, but were released on the statement of witnesses that the accident was unavoidable.

RESERVE BOARD PLANS TO OPEN BANKS BY NOV. 15

Call for First Payments to Capital Funds Will Be Issued at Once.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—The Federal Reserve Board took decisive action last night to hasten the opening of the 12 Federal reserve banks by announcing its determination to call at once the first installment of subscriptions to the capital of these banks. The payments are due on Nov. 2.

The board decided also that the 12 banks shall be opened simultaneously. The date probably will be determined after the conference with representatives of the banks to be held here next Tuesday. It is believed that the banks will be in operation by Nov. 15.

The first payment by each bank will amount to 1 per cent of its combined capital and surplus. The total which may be required of each bank under the law is 6 per cent of its capital and surplus.

CANAL REOPENING IS EXPECTED IN A WEEK

Col. Goethals Believes Damage Will Be Repaired by Then if No New Slide Occurs.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Col. Goethals cabled the War Department today that traffic through the Panama Canal, blocked by a land slip into Culebra Cut Wednesday night, would be reopened in about a week unless there were further earth movements.
"Slide occurred on east side of canal north of Gold Hill at 5 o'clock last evening, 1500 feet long, completely blocking channel for 1000 feet in length," Col. Goethals cabled. "Dredges were moved to the north of it when movement began and are now operating to open up channel for passage of boats. Unless further movement occurs expect to have channel open in one week."

DONALDSON WISHED WHEN DYING TO WED MISS BATES

Ceremony Was Postponed When Relatives Believed He Had a Slight Chance to Recover.

At the filing of the will of William R. Donaldson Jr. in the Probate Court at Clayton yesterday, it was disclosed Donaldson had wanted to be married on his death bed last Monday night to his fiancée, Miss Bertha Bates of 3222 Washington avenue, to whom he had bequeathed half of his estate.
Miss Bates and Donaldson's relatives gathered at his bedside also wished to have the marriage performed.
Thomas K. Skinner of Clayton, who related the incident to Probate Clerk C. D. Wolf, said there was no wedding that night, because the family physician, Dr. Paul Y. Tupper of 4629 Berlin avenue, had held out a ray of hope for Donaldson's recovery. It then had been decided, Skinner said, to have the marriage performed Tuesday morning.

Donaldson, however, lapsed into unconsciousness at midnight and died five hours later. His desire for an immediate marriage had been prompted by Dr. G. C. Eggers having told him he could not recover from the burns received at 8 p. m. when his gasoline-saturated clothes were ignited in a strange manner, at his home on Price road, west of Clayton. Donaldson immediately had signed a brief codicil to his will, in which he bequeathed one-half of his estate to Miss Bates, with the statement: "I hope she may be happy."

When Dr. Tupper arrived, Skinner said, his statement about Donaldson's chances led the family to postpone the marriage ceremony until the morning.
"If Mr. Donaldson had lived until Tuesday," Skinner said, "Miss Bates would have been listed in his testament as his widow, and not as a friend."

Dr. Tupper, when asked about the matter by a Post-Dispatch reporter, declined to discuss it beyond saying that the marriage had been delayed on account of his opinion.

Donaldson's will, written May 2 last, had bequeathed $50,000 to Miss Bates, but the codicil altered that to enable her to share a larger sum. Their engagement was announced last week and they were to have been married next month.
Donaldson made special bequests totaling $30,000, leaving $5000 each to his cousins, Helen R. Rathbun and Andrew R. Rathbun, to his nephews and nieces, Allen D. Randolph, Larned Randolph, Elizabeth D. Hodgman and Eunice W. Hodgman. The remainder of his estate is to be divided equally between his sisters, Annie M. Hodgman and Elizabeth A. Randolph. George A. Randolph, his brother-in-law, is made executor without bond.

Donaldson's relatives have not disclosed the value of his estate, but it is considerable, as he was a grandson of the late Thomas Allen and one of the heirs to the large Allen estate. He was 35 years old, and had practiced law with his father in St. Louis.
Miss Bates a few days ago resigned as a teacher at McKinley High School.

MILK UP IN TRI-CITIES, WAR GIVEN AS CAUSE

Dairies Say the Farmers Are Demanding Increase and So They Must Charge More.

The European war is blamed by three dairies in the Tri-Cities for the increased cost of milk, notices of which were deposited with each bottle of milk distributed this morning. Pint bottles of milk, which have sold at 4 cents a quart, which have sold at 8 cents, have been raised 1 cent each.

The notices read: "War! War! War! The European war boosts prices but the farmers have boosted the price of milk. We must charge more. Starting this morning milk is 5 cents per pint bottle and 9 cents per quart bottle. Sorry, but we've got to live."

The notices are signed by the Royal, Ideal and Granite City dairies, which distribute practically all of the milk sold to the 22,000 residents in the Tri-Cities. Roy Maasie, proprietor of the Royal Dairy Co., told a reporter that the three dairies received nearly all their supply from farmers near the Tri-Cities and as the farmers increased the price, the dairies were compelled to raise their price to protect themselves against a loss. Maasie did not say what increase in price had been demanded by the farmers.

HEIRLOOM IS RECOVERED

Police Here Find Stolen Watch in Man's Home Town.
Edward Eugene Ball of 121 Commercial Building, Kansas City, was held up and robbed in Kansas City on Sept. 2, 1913. He passed through St. Louis six weeks later and asked the police to be on the lookout for some of his jewelry, particularly a watch that was a family heirloom. He offered $25 for its recovery.
The police here sent out circulars describing the watch, one of which went to Kansas City. Chief Young today received a letter from the Kansas City police saying the watch had been found in a pawnshop there, where it had been pledged for $3.50. The Kansas City police have not yet learned the watch is the property of a Kansas City man.

FAVOR SUNDAY CLOSING

Members of the Merchants' Credit Association of Webster Groves, St. Louis County, met last night in Old Orchard, and appointed a committee to circulate a petition in which the signers will request the Board of Aldermen of Webster Groves to pass an ordinance requiring all stores to remain closed on Sunday with the exception of drug stores. This action was taken as a result of the storekeepers' preference to keep open on Sunday, and most of the other are obliged to in order not to lose trade. At present there are no saloons and no poolrooms within the city limits.

Takes Revolver Away From Robber.
A man with a red handkerchief over the lower part of his face walked into the dry goods store of Sam Spiegelberg, 2103 Shaw avenue, about 9:15 o'clock last night, and pointed a revolver at him.

Spiegelberg jumped up from the table, at which he had been sitting, and took the revolver away from the robber, who then fled. The revolver was found to be out of repair and empty.

Girl Passing Alley Seized by a Man.
Josephine Schluster, 17 years old, of 425 Blair avenue, and her younger sister, Anna, were passing an alley on Blair avenue, between Penrose and Farragut streets, on their return from a store about 7 o'clock last night, when Josephine was seized by a man. She and her sister screamed and the man fled.

DON'T SCOLD A CROSS, SICK CHILD BUT GIVE DELICIOUS "SYRUP OF FIGS."

Look at the tongue, mother. If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad, has stomach ache, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in just a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, indigestible food and sour bile gently moves out of its little stomach and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless fruit laxative; they love its delicious taste and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages, and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeiters sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.—ADV.

DETECTIVES FIND 5 REGISTERED IN FIFTH WARD DEAD

Early Investigation of Alleged Irregularities Shows Many Errors.

Ten detectives under the leadership of Lieut. John Hoffman of Central District this morning began an investigation into alleged irregularities in the registration of Fifth Ward voters.

The investigation was requested by the Board of Election Commissioners after 183 registered letters sent by that body to names and addresses entered on the registration books had been returned by the postal authorities.

The detectives will report in writing to Chief Young, who will forward the reports to the Police Commissioners, who in turn will send them to the Election Commissioners, who will hand them over to Circuit Attorney Harvey.

Before noon the detectives had learned that if five of the persons whose names are registered in one precinct of the ward under investigation want to vote in the November election, they will have to come back from the cemeteries in which they were buried long before the election officials who canvassed the ward more than a month ago reported them as eligible voters.

In the 183 letters returned to the Election Commissioners yesterday, three were marked "deceased."

It also was established in the first hours of the investigation that no less than half a dozen men whose names were registered in one precinct had moved before the canvass.

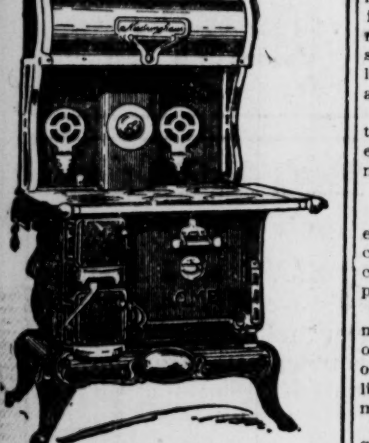

The inquiry thus far has not established whether election officials are to blame for the false registration. It may be shown that men posing as those who had died and those who had moved to other parts had misled the canvassers.

WABASH RAILROAD REORGANIZATION PLAN ABANDONED

Committee Notifies Missouri Public Service Commission of Decision to Halt Scheme.

BARKER DID NOT APPROVE

Three Months of Effort Fails to Bring About Proposals Acceptable to State Board.

The Missouri Public Service Commission at Jefferson City today received from the reorganization committee of the Wabash Railroad, representing bondholders of the road, a statement that for the present all reorganization plans had been abandoned.

The decision to halt the reorganization scheme follows a three-months effort on the part of the committee to reach a plan which would meet with little or no opposition on the part of members of the commission or bondholders.

It became known several months ago that at least one member of the Missouri Public Service Commission opposed the plan submitted by the Wabash bondholders' committee. Under the committee plan there was no provision to take care of damage claims against the Wabash, or claims for overcharges which were made during the period the reduced rates law was under consideration by the Federal courts.

Attorney-General Barker of Missouri announced that he would go into court and oppose the reorganization for this reason and for the further reason that there was no new money going into the Wabash property under the plan, and that nearly all of the new money to be obtained would go to Kuhn, Loeb & Co., the New York bankers, who had agreed to finance the reorganization.

The reorganization committee, however, takes the position that the failure of the reorganization plans are due to reduced rates and to a failure of the income to meet operating expenses and pay interest on indebtedness.

The Reorganization Committee in its statement says that the plan for taking the road out of the hands of receivers has been abandoned because the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Public Service Commission of the various states have refused to grant to the Wabash relief asked for.

They say that operating costs and taxes have increased and that rates of transportation for freight and passengers have decreased. The road has applied for increased rates and its application has been rejected.

With the largest volume of business and the largest amount of gross earnings realized in any one year except one in the history of the property, the operating income of the property was for the fiscal year just closed the smallest in any year save two during the last 10 years, the committee states.

Passenger Rates Cause Loss.

Because of the increased operating cost, increased taxes and reduced rates, the earnings of the property, despite the large gross business, fell over $275,000 short of the interest on underlying mortgages and provides no return in the company expenditures made during the receivership.

Under existing passenger rates as reduced by law, revenues from passenger transportation, it is asserted, is about one mill per mile per passenger carried, below the actual cost of operating the passenger service, and the margin above cost of operating that service is represented by an amount less than the net earnings from mail and express business alone.

From 1906 to 1910, inclusive, freight transportation showed an average revenue over cost of one and one-half mills for each ton carried one mile.

Freight Profits Small.

Under existing cost conditions revenue from freight transportation exceeds its cost by one mill for each ton carried one mile, or a decrease of 33-1/3 per cent.

Passengers, according to the statement, are now carried on the Wabash at one-tenth cent per mile less than cost of service, while freight is carried at a little over one-tenth cent per ton per mile over the cost of carrying.

The statement is signed by Winslow S. Pierce, chairman; Robert Golet, Bernard M. Baruch, Thomas H. Hubbard, Alvin W. Kreech, Robert Fleming and Johannes Ludon.

The Wabash reorganization plan, as submitted to the State Commission last June, called for the distribution of $145,015,000 in new securities, which, in addition to the old securities undisturbed, made a total capitalization of $209,601,000 for the new company. It levied an assessment of $20 per share on the preferred and common stocks, in consideration of which the preferred stockholders were to receive new stock at par and the common stockholders at 88 upon surrender of the old certificates.

Planned to Reduce Capital.

There was to have been only one issue of stock. The organization estimates that it would require $20,280,000 in cash to perfect the organization. Kuhn, Loeb & Co. announced their willingness to act as bankers for the committee and to arrange the finances as provided for in the plan.

J. Aspinwall Hodge, an attorney from New York, who represented bondholders who objected to the reorganization plan, said at one of the hearings:

"Securities issued in the reorganization plan should not exceed the physical value of the property. The reorganization plan contemplates securities of $209,600,000 without any showing as to the property's physical value. Are we going to let Wall Street inject water into this stock just because Mr. Pierce, chairman of the bondholders' committee, wants it done? George Gould, after accomplishing the foreclosure of the road, sold all of his Wabash stock to the public."

The plan abandoned yesterday provided for a total capitalization $10,125,877 less than the capitalization of the old corporation.

The committee withdrew its reorganization plan from consideration by the Missouri Public Service Commission three months ago, and announced that a revised plan would be submitted. The commission has been awaiting this revised plan, which, it appears from the statement of the committee, has been finally abandoned.

Bankers Ask Commerce Commission to Grant Rate Increases.

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 15.—The convention of the American Bankers Association came to a close last night after the election of officers and the adoption of a resolution calling upon the Interstate Commerce Commission to grant rate increases sought by the railroads. Unless railroads and transportation interests, the resolution said, could be made prosperous and confidence in the stability of their securities restored and maintained, "no permanent relief from existing conditions can be expected."

ART EXHIBIT TO CONTINUE

Portraits of Settlers to Be Shown Till Wednesday.

The exhibition of portraits, silhouettes, daguerreotypes and miniatures of French and Spanish settlers who came to Missouri prior to 1804, which have been on display to the public at the Jefferson Memorial in Forest Park since last Wednesday, will continue until next Wednesday.

The first day of the exhibition was called "Creole day" and descendants of the early settlers were invited to inspect the collection of pictures, said to be the most wonderful of its kind ever exhibited in this city. The descendants of the Creole settlers also registered at the Memorial, which will be open each afternoon during the exhibition, including Sunday.

More Horses Shipped to France.

Four cars with 104 horses were shipped from the National Stockyards, East St. Louis, this morning to France. The French army officers have bought a total of about 250 head. Dealers believe the French have decided to fill their entire order for 500 horses at the National Stockyards, although they intended originally to patronize three other markets.

Son Held for Killing Father.

MAYOR AT TURNVEREIN

Kiel and Bartholdt Speakers at Anniversary Celebration.

The celebration of the fifth anniversary of the founding of the South St. Louis Turn Verein was started in the hall at Tenth and Carroll streets last night. Mayor Kiel and Congressman Bartholdt, who were introduced to the audience by P. M. Hucks, president of the turn Verein, made addresses. Mayor Kiel advocated the passage of the bond issue for the completion of the Free Bridge and explained the plans for the central parkway.

Congressman Bartholdt, talking in German, spoke on the European war and declared that Germany would have signed her death warrant had she hesitated to invade Belgium at the commencement of the war.

The golden jubilee will be celebrated tomorrow and Sunday night in the turn Verein. A carnival will be held Sunday night and Mrs. P. M. Hucks will sing several songs.

PEOPLE NEED STRENGTHENING NOW-A-DAYS

Samuel Johnson once remarked that "a sick man was but half a man." Never was a truer remark made. No one, either man or woman, can gain the true value of life if they are afflicted with nervous debility.

The business man at his desk, the workman at his bench, the housewife in her kitchen, the society lady at her "receptions" cannot put more than half their energy into what they are doing if they are victims of that "tired feeling" or continually complain that they feel "run-down."

Are you getting everything out of life that you should? Do you ever feel depressed and worried about your condition? If you do it is your duty to take the new tonic, Tona Vita. It aids nature in the same way that rest and diet would. It aids nature in toning up your body; it dispels all melancholy thoughts of sickness, and brings strength and ambition to the tired organs of the body.

Every bottle is strictly guaranteed. If it does not benefit you your money will be promptly returned.

All leading druggists handle it, but if you should experience any difficulty in obtaining it, send us one dollar and twenty-five cents and the name of your druggist and we will express you a bottle, all charges prepaid.

NITRATE OF SILVER FOR THE CIGARETTE HABIT TRIED HERE

Neighborhood Association Boys Wishing to Stop Smoking Have Throats Swabbed.

An interesting experiment in breaking boys of the cigarette habit is being tried out at the Neighborhood Association, an undenominational settlement house at 817 North Nineteenth street.

Mrs. Katherine Fertig, the director, returned from the East a few days ago and told the board of directors that in many institutions in that section they are swabbing the throats of confirmed cigarette smokers with nitrate of silver, which causes the one treated to become very sick if he smokes within 24 hours after.

As many of the 800 boys who visit the association home are confirmed cigarette smokers, Mrs. Fertig requested that the treatment be tried here. The board gave its consent, and a city dispensary physician who acts as "big brother" to the boys there, volunteered to administer the treatment. No boy undergoes the experiment unless he is willing. The solution is entirely harmless, the only effect experienced by the boy being a sick feeling if he smokes soon after.

Tests Will Power. The physician believes in will power, as well as nitrate of silver, for curing the boys. If the boy has enough determination to quit the habit, he gives him a brotherly talk, but no solution. If he is small, and appears to lack the power, but wishes to quit just the same, then his tonsils and gums are swabbed with the solution. And in the latter case, if he dares smoke within 24 hours he becomes sicker than a land-lubber making his first sea trip on a storm-tossed ocean liner.

When the clinic opened last night the physician took one boy at a time into the kitchen of the house. The first one wanted to quit cigarette smoking because he is going to high school next year and wants to make the football team. The doctor convinced him that he will never be able to make a touchdown unless he has the will power to buck the line against overwhelming odds.

"If you quit for 24 hours you can quit forever," he was told.

"Ah, I don't need that dope. I can quit anyway," the boy said, as he went out of the room with his head up.

"Give that stuff to the other kids. I can quit anyway."

The next one was a little chap with bad lungs. He wanted to quit smoking but one look at the face showed that will-power would never do it. His head was thrown back, his mouth opened and the interior swabbed.

First Experiment. After he had gone out and the next one called in, he was watched. Going outside and around the corner he rolled a cigarette, and started smoking. Within a few moments he was a very sick man.

When the physician came out he hung his head, but became more sick. "I told you so," the physician said. "I ain't never going to smoke no more. Doc, I'm dying," the little chap moaned. "I know you won't," he was told. And the rest of the boys who saw his plight and had taken the treatment, needed no swearing off to convince them of the efficacy of the treatment.

GOV. COLQUITT WILL ENFORCE LIQUOR LAW

Would Prevent All Shipments to Prohibition Districts, Despite Adverse Court Decision. AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 16.—The Allison liquor law is to be strictly enforced by Gov. Colquitt, in spite of an adverse court decision. He addressed a communication yesterday to Attorney-General Looney asking that action be taken to restrain railway and express companies from shipping intoxicants into prohibition districts.

The Governor is prompted in this action by a decision of the Court of Criminal Appeals that it is not a violation of the Allison law for an express company to send liquor to an individual when such liquor is not to be used in violation of any of the laws of the State.

Industrial Heads Pledge Self to Stop Drinking Among Employees. CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—Resolutions pledging members to the elimination of alcoholic stimulants among employees of their plants and factories were adopted yesterday at the closing session of the third annual National Congress of Industrial Safety.

Arthur T. Morey, assistant to the president of the Commonwealth Steel Co. of St. Louis, who introduced the resolution, said that 500 members of the organization had direct control over more than 1,000,000 workmen.

Ammons indicated he would make known his decision tomorrow.

The date for Henwood's execution has been fixed for the week beginning Oct. 25. The trial judge, each member of the Supreme Court, and the members of the State Board of Pardons, have recommended that the sentence be commuted.

Are You Looking for Values?

If so, this is where you should come, for this is acknowledged the greatest value-giving clothes store of St. Louis. No other store can anywhere near approach us in giving values, because not only are our natural buying conditions—the advantage of volume—favorable to us, but our determination to excel is strong.

Some stores with a large volume have not such a strong desire to undersell; they would rather keep the extra amount of profit for themselves.

Hart Schaffner & Marx Clothes

are here now in values greater than we have ever extended to St. Louisans before; we have borne down on prices, so that we now start to sell the products of these world's famous makers for as low as $15.

Our superiority as value givers is best illustrated by the fact that even outside of St. Louis there are but few others who sell Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes as low as $15. Every St. Louis man should take a civic pride in feeling that this is one of the few stores in the whole United States which is daring enough and determined enough to give values that are far and away beyond all competition.

Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes at $18, $20, $25, $30, $35 and up to $50, are excess value in proportion to price; the qualities and styles are wonderful.

Suits at $20 That Are Wonders

No store in this city buys and sells so many $20 suits; it's a very popular price and we've thousands of patterns to show you—new ones every day—all models. Tartans, stripes, checks, over-plaids, new browns, grays, blues in two and three tone effects; best styles and handsomest showing of suits that ever entered this store at $20, and they will represent true economy to any man who buys them.

Try out the Hart Schaffner & Marx idea at the $20 price. You'll find it "can't be beat" for the money.

You'll Like These $25 Suits

Our specialized style and value $25 clothes represent all that concerted energy on the part of Hart Schaffner & Marx and ourselves could put into clothes at the price—exquisite wools of such qualities as would be in other clothes at $30 and $35 have been added to our line to sell at $25. The snappiest foreign and domestic weaves and colorings you ever saw—clothes that you'll feel well in and look well in—newest styles and best models—an amazing evidence of what can be done when we try to get the best possible value into a $25 price.

Many Suits are richly silk lined and are tailored in the most thorough and reliable manner that only Hart Schaffner & Marx know how to do. The most perfect fitting Suits anywhere at $25.

Big Business in Young Men's Suits

Young men like our new Hart Schaffner & Marx model No. 54; a smart-looking, form-tracing Coat, with high-chest effect—trousers cut special to go with the coat—the best hanging trousers ever designed. Be sure to see model No. 54, if you are young, you'll like it.

All the newest styles in Tartans, regimental stripes, silk-mixed worsteds and bound-edge effects will be found in our young men's assortment, and the values are immense. Hart Schaffner & Marx extra qualities, $18, $20, $25.

FRISCO AND ALTON DEALS COST THE R. I. $41,000,000

Transaction for Southwest-ern Road Entailed Loss of $35,035,000, Other Line $6,370,841, Interstate Commerce Examiner Says at Hearing.

J. W. FOLK APPEARS FOR GOVERNMENT

Federal Witness Tells of Large Commission Paid to J. P. Morgan & Co.—B. F. Yoakum Gave $36.50 for Shares That Cost $120.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Inquiry into the financial operation of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad was begun by the Interstate Commerce Commission at a public hearing today before Commissioner Clements. A number of witnesses were on hand. Joseph W. Folk, chief counsel for the commission, is conducting the inquiry.

Frederick C. Sharrod, an Interstate Commerce Commission examiner, describing transactions by which the Rock Island acquired the Frisco lines, declared the loss to the Rock Island Railroad was "just about $35,035,000," and that it was carried on the company's books as an asset.

Chicago and Alton Deal. Sharrod, explaining the acquisition of the Chicago & Alton road by the Rock Island Railroad Co., declared: "My estimate of the loss to the railway company on the Chicago & Alton transaction is $6,370,841, and that, too, on an investment of only a little over $6,000,000."

The examiner said W. H. Moore, one of the directors of the Rock Island Railroad Co., was given a voucher of the Rock Island Railroad Co. for about $6000 to reimburse him for losses received in supporting in the market the bonds of the Rock Island Railroad Co.

The Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad Co. is a holding company incorporated in Iowa. The Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad Co. is the operating company, and is incorporated in Illinois. A third company, a holding company, is the Rock Island company of New Jersey.

Mr. Sharrod submitted an agreement dated May 6, 1903, by which the Rock Island Railroad Co. executed bonds of $15,000,000 to be deposited with J. P. Morgan & Co., bankers of the "Frisco transaction."

The firm's commission was said to have amounted to $1,997,625. Cost $120, sold for $37.50. The stock of the Frisco was acquired at $120 a share, the examiner said, subsequently was sold or transferred to B. F. Yoakum and his associates for $37.50 a share, or $10,822,500.

Before it could turn over the Frisco stock to Mr. Yoakum it became necessary for the Rock Island to borrow $1,500,000. It was gotten from the First National Bank of New York.

Counsel Folk for the commission brought out that the president of the bank was F. L. Hine, who was a director of the Rock Island Railroad; also that the bank received $125,000 for the use of the money.

Sharrod said that all the directors of the Rock Island Railroad Co. were employees of the Rock Island Railroad Co. The hearing is for the purpose of inquiring into charges made on the floor of the Senate that through the manipulations of a small number of financiers the stockholders of the Rock Island had suffered enormous losses.

The Senate adopted a resolution directing an investigation. The foundation for the inquiry was laid by experts of the commission, who had gone over the books of the Rock Island.

Rock Island Is Ordered to Show Cause in Receivership Suit. NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The State Supreme Court issued an order today directing the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad Co. to show cause why a receiver should not be appointed to take charge of properties not already pledged and to institute action to recover from the railroad's directors as damages the amount of loss alleged to have been caused the railroad by its directors.

Should such receiver be appointed under the order prayed for in the suit, which was brought by Horace L. Brand, the receiver would not only be empowered to sue directors, but would be specifically instructed by the court to do so.

The receiver, in addition, would be directed to search out and hold any other assets of the railroad company than those pledged to the Central Trust Co. as trustee; and also would be directed to apply to the Federal District Court for permission to intervene in the foreclosure action recently instituted by the Central Trust Co.

No amount is named in Brand's petition as the damages for which the receiver would be directed to sue.

Chicago Women Lose Vote Pica. CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—The Supreme Court at Springfield today held that women could not vote for county commissioners in Cook County. This upsets the ruling of County Judge Owens of the local bench.

"That lot has increased in value since I purchased it, but my business needs the money and I'm willing to let it go for what I paid." This is the story behind some of the real estate offers in Post-Dispatch Wants—especially Sunday.

DR ANNA SHAW

DR. ANNA SHAW TO TALK ON SUFFRAGE AT ODEON TONIGHT

Noted Leader of Votes-for-Women Cause Guest of Mrs. B. B. Graham for 3 Days.

Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, leader of the suffrage movement in the United States, stood in the rain at the Market street entrance to Union Station this morning and looked pleasant while newspaper photographers were taking her picture.

While others in her party sought the protection of umbrellas, Mrs. Shaw braved the steady downpour without putting into service a raincoat which she carried on her arm.

Mrs. Shaw arrived in St. Louis at 8:05 a. m. from Jefferson City, where she addressed a large audience last night. She is making a campaign tour of the West in the interest of woman suffrage and is scheduled to speak at the Odeon tonight. Her secretary, Dr. Harriet Dean, accompanies her.

Guest of Mrs. B. B. Graham. During her three-day stay in St. Louis Dr. Shaw will be the guest of Mrs. B. B. Graham of 5145 Lindell boulevard.

Besides Mrs. Graham, those who met and greeted Dr. Shaw at Union Station were Mrs. R. L. Sanford, Mrs. Edith Barriger, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Howard and C. C. Curtice.

After posing for her picture, Dr. Shaw went to the Graham home in an automobile.

Dr. Shaw will pay an informal visit during the afternoon to headquarters of Amendment No. 15 at the southeast corner of Eighth and Locust streets, and at the Odeon this evening will speak on the reasons why Amendment No. 15, giving to women the right to vote, should be adopted.

Mrs. Walter McNab Miller will preside at the meeting, and 27 women occupying the platform with Dr. Shaw will wear cotton dresses. The same material will be worn by members of the Business Women's Equal Suffrage League, who will be ushers.

Long Sunday Program. A joint luncheon of the City Club and the Town Club will be attended by Dr. Shaw at 12:30 p. m. tomorrow at the City Club quarters. Miss Charlotte Rumbold, president of the Town Club, will preside.

Sunday, the last day of her visit, will be the busiest day for Dr. Shaw. At 10:45 a. m. she will speak at First Christian Church, 3128 Locust street. At noon she will be the guest of Mrs. Monro Horton at luncheon in Webster Grove. At 3 p. m. she will speak at the Congregational Church, Webster, and in the evening will attend a tea at the home of Mrs. Bart Adams, Webster Park.

JURY OF WOMEN DOCTORS Sits in Chicago Insanity Cases and Returns 18 Verdicts.

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—A jury composed of women physicians, said to be the first of its kind, was impaneled yesterday to decide insanity cases before the Insane Court at the County Detention Hospital.

Out of 18 cases tried two women were discharged on the ground "that their husbands sought to have them adjudged insane and placed in asylums for no other reason than to get rid of them."

GATES CONVICTED, GETS 2 YEARS FOR KILLING CONROY

Jury on Eighteenth Ballot Reaches Verdict of Fourth Degree Manslaughter.

Charles A. Gates, on trial in Circuit Judge Hennings' court for the killing of Douglas Conroy last March, was found guilty of manslaughter in the fourth degree today and sentenced to two years' imprisonment. The jury, which retired at 3:30 last night, reached a verdict shortly after noon.

The verdict was a compromise reached on the eighteenth ballot. On the first ballot one juror voted for the death penalty, one for acquittal and the others for a verdict ranging from second degree murder to fourth degree manslaughter.

Protest by the Jurors. The jurors, with their verdict, submitted a written protest to Judge Hennings against the unnecessary inconveniences to which they had been subjected for two days during the trial. With two Deputy Sheriffs, the 12 jurors were locked in a small dormitory, where they were not permitted privacy or comfort. There were no facilities for bathing and there was only a small washstand in the room for the use of 14 men. They were not supplied either with a brush or comb. The toilet opened directly into the sleeping room.

"We have been called from our homes to perform our duty as citizens," the jurors' report stated, "and we feel the city owes us the ordinary comforts and conveniences that decency and health require."

Judge Hennings agreed with the jurors in their complaint, and regretted city officials thus far had failed to provide adequate and comfortable quarters for jurors.

Brother Hears Verdict. Gates' only relative in the courtroom when the verdict was returned was his brother, Clarence. His mother, four sisters and three other brothers had been in court earlier in the day.

Gates testified at the close of the trial that he left the boarding house conducted by Mrs. Julia A. Pierce, 1430 North Whittier street, at about 9 p. m. the night of the shooting. When he returned he found a number of young women and men were holding a party in his room.

He said he assisted Mrs. Pierce in the kitchen with the ice cream and coffee, and then asked that his room be vacated so that he might retire. He said this request resulted in remarks by some of those in the room, such as "throw him out," and "there it goes."

Feeling that there might be trouble, he said he went to his trunk and got a loaded revolver.

Afterward, when the guests had departed, Gates said he heard a noise outside and went onto the porch to investigate. He heard cries of "come on, you coward," and he said a volley of bottles was directed at him, one striking him.

He then fired in the direction of the crowd, he said, to frighten them away and to attract the police.

Conroy was shot and almost instantly killed.

AMERICAN WHO KILLED WIFE IN ENGLAND INSANE

Charles Henry Weston Found Guilty of Murder and Ordered to Asylum.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—Charles Henry Weston, formerly of Salem, Mass., today was found guilty of the murder of his wife and at the same time declared to be insane and committed to an asylum.

Weston's wife was found, Sept. 22, in her home at Richmond, a suburb of London, with her throat cut. She died while being taken to a hospital. The police declared she said her wound had been inflicted by her husband.

The Westons were popular in the American colony of London and were thought to be living together happily. Weston was a prey to the hallucination that the Germans were about to overrun England.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent, never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Suburban Car Service.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
The Webster and Kirkwood people get inadequate car service. I am one among the many who take the trains rather than suffer the agony of a ride on the car. Another outrage which my friend M. H. De J. speaks about, being obliged to pay another fare when you have nearly broken your neck to catch a car and then find out that it stops at Webster and you will have to take the next car. The reason for this mad rush and mistake is that the next car won't be along for 15 minutes or half hour. Why cannot the conductor furnish a passenger with a car to car transfer, the U. R. R. has had the same amount of money it would take to finish the ride had you caught the through car?

Two lady friends of mine had this same experience going to Meramec Highlands. Took the car at Tuxedo, expecting to go through to Meramec Highlands and instead were forced to get off at Webster and take the through car. Had to wait 15 minutes, and then forced to pay another fare or get off.

Not only do we have to wait at Maplewood while the conductor collects the fares, but there is usually a wait of about five minutes at the Benton sheds. To the fortunate this would not seem much, but to the stranger, who is tired from his day's work, each minute seems an hour. I certainly think it is time the long-suffering "suburbanite" should make a stand for better service.

The Southern Traction Obstacle.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
Now we, the taxpayers of St. Louis, know who is behind the Southern Traction Co.'s franchise. The Hon. J. P. Howe and I would like to know, in case this franchise stands as it is, would J. P. Howe or the Southern Traction Co. be able to lay one foot of track much less a loop running from the bridge through different streets as the company now is in the hands of a receiver, with very little capital on hand? It appears more complicated now than ever. No road could enter the city for the Southern Traction Co. has the franchise, but no money to build or lay the loops; therefore, to avoid any further complications, I say repeat the Southern Traction grant and let us all get together and vote for the bonds and finish the bridge. J. P. Howe is only one who doesn't want to hurt his feelings. Consider the other thousands and thousands of taxpayers who want the bridge finished, with special privileges to none, equal rights to all and also fulfill the pledges made by our Hon. Mayor before the election. Repeat the Southern Traction franchise.

TWENTY-SIXTH WARD TAXPAYER.

Dempsey Home Has Complete Records.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
In your issue of the 14th inst. appears a letter signed a "Broken-Hearted Mother" which contains a statement to the effect that the writer called at our "Dempsey Home" and failed to find her missing son, as "they failed to keep names on register." I would ask you to please correct the false impression that may be created by this statement. A complete register is preserved of the names of all who have stayed at the hotel in the past eight years, as they were given to the clerk, and may be had by anybody seeking information. Numbers of people looking for lost relatives constantly call at the hotel, and we have often been able to locate missing ones. Not long since the writer received a letter from Wales from a woman inquiring for her son, from whom she had not heard in a long time. We were glad to be able to send her the cheering news by return mail that he was staying with us and doing well.

I ask your indulgence for inserting this, and thanking you for your favors in the past. I beg to remain yours very sincerely,

TIMOTHY DEMPSEY, Manager.

Hold Delegates to Responsibility.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
Why talk about J. P. Howe if he were the sole person responsible for the jeopardized condition of the free bridge? How did what he was supposed to do as counsel for the Southern Traction Co., but how about our servants, how about getting their own employees who were in the Council and House? Delegates when this Southern Traction franchise was left? They are the people who, I am told, in the face of the fact that they were duly warned by representatives of the people not to pass the franchise, did so. They did not follow out the wishes of the people and now the people must suffer. Get together in ward improvement associations, have your delegate attend the meetings, then see to it that he votes in accordance with your wishes and not his own, which may be governed by other influences.

HARVARD FOR FREE SPEECH.

Harvard's decision not to accept Prof. Muensterberg's resignation on account of a protest against his partisan utterances concerning the European war is sound. Harvard, as one of the leading American universities, cannot afford to violate the fundamental American principle of free speech for any consideration.

Doubt is cast upon the good faith of the Maj. Clarence Wiener's statement that Harvard will lose a $10,000,000 legacy, but whether it will or will not lose the money, the suggestion that an American university of Harvard's history and standing punish a professor for uttering opinions is abhorrent to Americans. That some institutions dependent upon the fat purses of intolerant magnates have erred in this respect makes it none the less repugnant.

In approving Harvard's stand for American principles we do not justify Prof. Muensterberg's course in undertaking a partisan controversy which offends all except his fellow German sympathizers. Bitter partisanship on questions affecting domestic or foreign politics or race feeling is not becoming in a university professor. It does not serve his institution, but, on the contrary, injures it. This experience should teach the teacher a wholesome lesson.

Nevertheless, regardless of all conditions, Harvard's prompt refusal to bridge free opinion and free speech within her halls and to sacrifice principle to sordid interest is another bright mark in her long record of service. Our fellow German-American citizens who have been misled by intense sympathy into threatening protests against free opinion and free speech may learn true Americanism from Harvard's example.

SUBMARINE'S FURTHER SCORE.

The loss in a submarine attack of the British light cruiser Hawke with all but about 50 of her men lengthens the score in which the destruction of the Hogue, the Cressy and the Aboukir with 1400 men by Capt. Weddigen's U-9 was already a formidable entry.

To whitewash British naval preponderance in isolated submarine and Zeppelin attacks until the two fleets were fairly equal and then to bring on a great and decisive battle at sea has always been outlined by the Germans as their naval strategy. They have made a good start on their program. The moral effect of their successes is much greater than their effect on strength. The vessels that have so far come to grief are scout ships, which are peculiarly exposed, but if those that are destroyed, line of battle ships can also be destroyed.

The British are peculiarly helpless. Their fleets cover the seas, inviting attack at a thousand places, but the German ships are held in secure harbors of refuge. London has a great number of submarines, but German ships to send them against are inaccessible.

LET US BE FAIR TO BOTH.

Nobody knows better than the trainman the extreme hazards of his work. Nobody has a more direct interest than he in conserving the resources of his employers.

He says the full crew law is needed, to reduce the appalling number of killings and maimings which befall men in his calling. Nine states have granted his plea. Missouri is asked to grant it, at the polls next month, by adopting referendum proposition No. 9.

Railroad managers oppose the full crew proposition, not because they wish to expose trainmen to any avoidable risk, but because it increases expense, and the roads are in no condition to carry more expense.

If the people, through their rate-regulating agencies, will permit the roads to make rates high enough to cover the increased cost of full crews, objections to this safeguard will cease.

Can the people do less than that? Not wisely, we believe, since the public pays far more in respect of such casualties than it would cost to prevent them.

THE 1915 MODEL BABY.

Lately the Franklin Avenue Improvement Association has devoted laudable effort to improving the Franklin Avenue species of baby. In fact, it, the Association, succeeded in evolving some human infant specimens so near perfection as to score above 99 per cent at the recent Baby Show. The model which received the highest rating of its class (a 1914 Spring model) was pronounced generally flawless by more than one expert, and attained a final grade of 99.9 per centum. We are not informed as to what microscopic shortcomings are represented by the missing titles of a decimal. Nor would we comment on it if we did, so soon as after the awards have been made, while public feeling is yet warm, family pride resents, and before the judges have had time to get well out of town.

We do not balk at the comparative trifles of picking flaws in Czars or Kaisers and we are bold enough when it comes to judging between presidential candidates. We have taken our life in our hands and judged an old-fashioned fiddlers' contest. We have shown the cold courage of a baseball umpire at times. We have even dared to pass upon the relative merits of rival free bridge sites. But only angels buoyed by pinions should venture to tread upon eggshells; and if bitter experience has taught journalism nothing else, it has taught it to preserve a delicate neutrality respecting competitive egotistic displays.

In presenting for public discussion today the question of the perfect baby of the future, we have no purpose to stir up riot or neighborhood war. The question is not intended to reflect on any baby of the present time. We fully recognize every mother's and father's right under the American Constitution to consider his or her baby the absolute 100 per centum attainment of perfection never to be surpassed.

With due respect for the present generation, our concern is solely for posterity, and we make bold to consider the 1915 Model or Ideal for the eugenic uplift of the Hence. A sense of duty to subsequent generations should prompt everybody to strive for plus or super-qualities of perfection.

above those already noted. To this end the Franklin Avenue Improvement Association has given us something to dream on. We have been permitted to study the physician's anthropometric test or standard devised by the Association's psychological clinic for the further elevation of the genus homo, and cheerfully recommend it. Copies may be had on application to the Superintendent, and no family should be without one. Puerperfection and standardization of the future baby can only be achieved through the chart and card index system which are impossible without scientific attention to details.

Those who imagine that a perfect or puerperfect baby is a simple matter should be informed that it is a question of myriad anthropometric data and higher mathematics. Questions such as that of obtaining the cephalic index by multiplying the width of head by 100 and dividing the product by the occipital-frontal length are comparatively simple beside involved problems of anterior-posterior chest diameter, musculature, turgor, patency, symmetry and proportion.

A word to the wise is sufficient. But, of course, those old-fashioned, mediocre folks who are satisfied just to have a "nice baby" or a "sweet baby" or a "bouncing baby" needn't bother their heads about all this new-fangled foolishness.

THAT "FAKE" FIGHT.

Honest men will pay to see a good fight and they demand their money back when a ring event proves a sham.

The hard-working man who has given up $1 earned by the sweat of his brow in these stressful times when living is high—he is certainly entitled to sympathy when he is robbed of the fruits of his toil by a couple of shameless pretenders who "stall" around the ring exchanging love taps and affectionate embraces.

It is a disgrace to a peaceful civilization when good citizens who would support the manly art are subjected to the humiliation of having to witness such spectacles of mollycoddledom. It is a travesty upon the good faith of the times. It is subversive of ethical standards; a blow at our ideals; a triumph of effiteness over virility, of cunning over courage, of sham over substance, of money over morals—a miserable mimicry and contemptible fiddling and feinting that would be almost laughable if it were not so sad—in short, an exhibition that leaves the beholder with a sort of gone feeling, a sense of being swindled, a cheapened self-esteem, and, worst of all, that keen disappointment and rage which make grown men want to cry like little children.

Merely getting their money back would not soothe their pangs or fill their aching wants. Furthermore, we suspect that they are not going to get it back. No; what hurts them nothing can cure. They wanted to see some of the real thing; they ached to see a few pliedriver punches; they listened for the thud of the blows, hungered for the grueling business, thirsted for a sight of the claret (what of mixed metaphors when passions run high!) and yearned for sport. And they were stung, stung, stung, alas!

THOMPSON OF KANSAS AGAIN.

"I take off my hat to the suffering wounded. I take off my hat to the brave of all races. But there is only one flag to which I am permitted to take off my hat," said Donald Thompson, Kansas photographer, to the German subaltern who had just struck him twice with the flat of his sword for not uncovering to the colors of a passing German regiment in Antwerp.

"What flag is that?" asked the officer.

The Kansan pulled the Stars and Stripes from his pocket and waved them vigorously over his head. The officer had met his match. He moved on.

Thompson is now looking for this subaltern among the hosts of captured Antwerp. The new military commander of the city has promised to punish him if located and in the meantime has sent a formal apology for his use of the sword as a slapstick.

We may be grateful that the subsidence of the smoke and thunder of the bombardment afforded us another chance to see and hear D. T. As American Vice-Consul in the absence of the regular official he was as much at home as when snaphooting German corps deployed for his special benefit. He is a gleam of sunshine in the black Belgian tragedy. We can't have too many glimpses of him.

PORTUGAL AND THE WAR IN AFRICA.

It is more than a coincidence that Portugal is reported to have declared war on Germany the day after the Boer revolt in South Africa is announced. In that quarter of the world the little republic has power by no means to be despised.

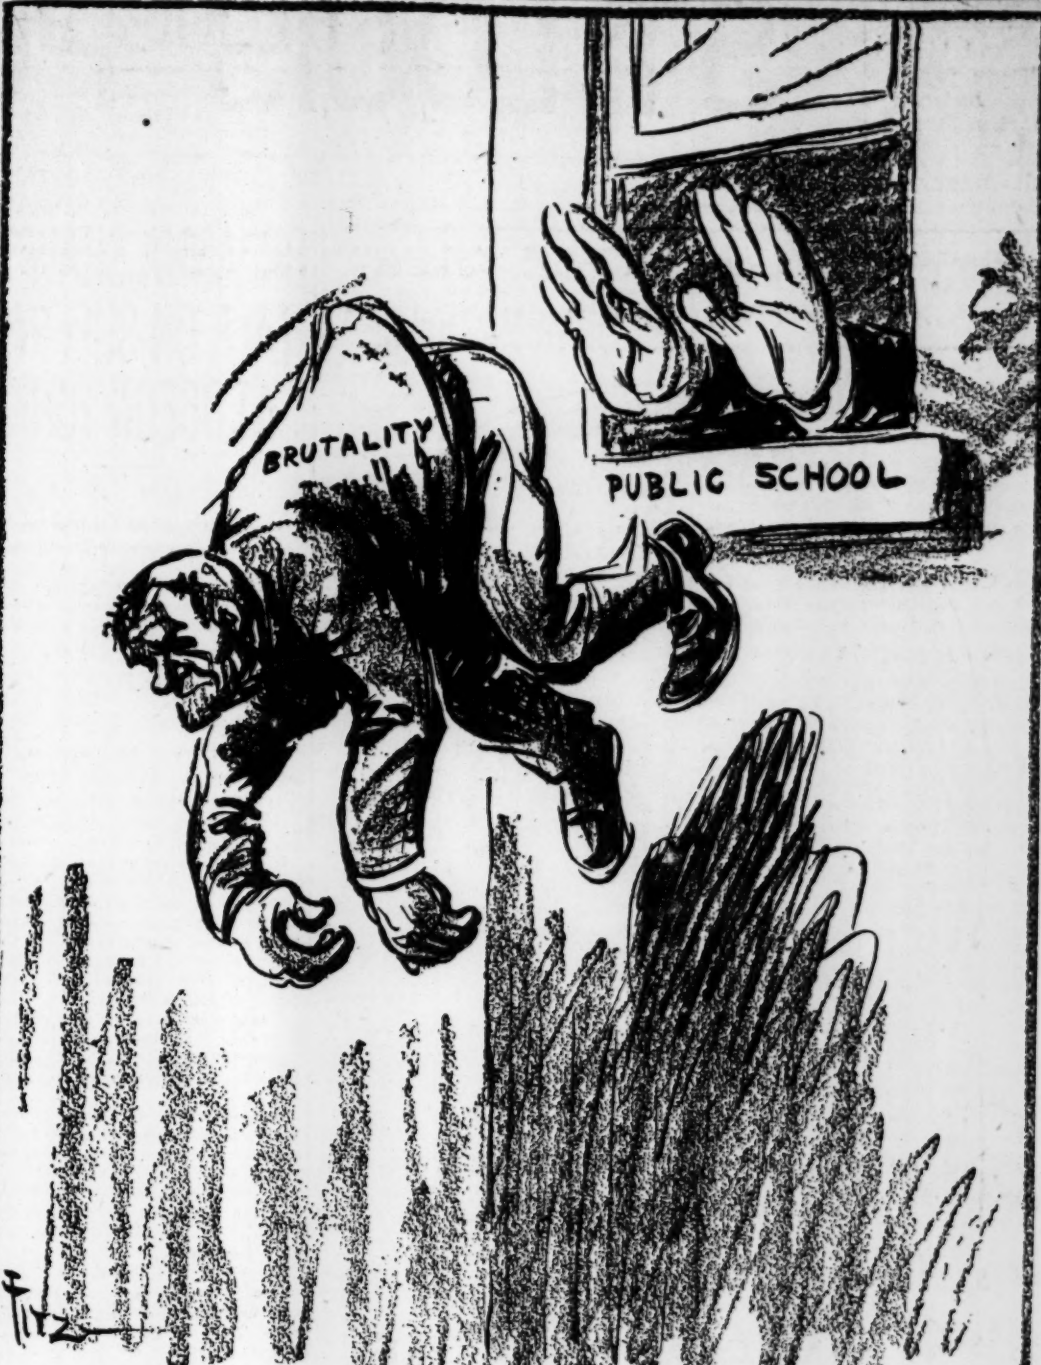

Of Portugal's colonies, four times the size of Germany, nearly all are in Africa. There are her 10,000 colonial troops; there ply her army transports and her 22,000-ton navy, big and valuable for river work; there is Delagoa Bay and its port of Lorenzo Marques. In the Boer War the British used this natural gate to East Africa. They may use it again, with active Portuguese aid, against Col. Maritz's revolt, if it spreads; if not, it is a fine base against German East Africa, just as Portuguese Angola, and the port of St. Paul Deloando menace German West Africa. Portugal can put in the field 100,000 troops, with 35,000 recruits yearly.

In spite of a clash with British South Africa Company troops in 1890 a friendship of more than 200 years binds Portugal to England. It was in 1703, Queen Anne's time, that the Methuen treaty admitted Lisbon wines to England and English woolsens to Portugal on preferential tariffs. Six generations of gaily English squire served their country by making port their national drink. A hundred years ago Britain served a friend already old by driving out Napoleon's armies. British troops have since intervened in many Portuguese turmoils.

When the war broke out the Portuguese Cabinet announced, Aug. 8, that they were ready to fulfill the terms of a century-old treaty and aid Great Britain if called upon. Germany has to little purpose stirred up revolt in South Africa if she has brought Portugal down upon her in that far region of this world-wide war.

The Making of Orphans.

From the Chicago Herald.
When you think of the field of battle in France as the greatest orphan factory in the world it seems even worse than ever.

A JUSTIFIABLE USE OF FORCE.

JUST A MINUTE.

Written for the Post-Dispatch by Clark McAdams

A GRAPEVINE WINDING ROUND A TREE.

A GRAPEVINE winding round a tree
Lit up the woodland path ahead,
And never, so it seemed to me,
Had grape leaves been so richly red.
The trunk they twined about was white,
The somber wood behind was green,
And in a transport of delight
I stood before that forest scene.

Ah! world with beauty like to that, how can there be things base and mean?

A T Beauty's shrine in that still place

I sang an humble song of praise,
The sunlight streaming on my face
Through devious and leafy ways.
The shy wood birds flew here and there,
The morning air was crisp and sweet,
And through the forest everywhere
The west wind ranged with tripping feet.

Oh! earth grown beautiful in Fall in what blest fellowship we meet!

A GRAPEVINE winding round a tree

Had set the world of care apart,
And happiness had come to free
The song unprompted from my heart.
It was so good to be as one
With all the creatures of the wild,
To share their glory in the sun,
And breathe their freedom undefiled.

Dear God, that I am grown a man and am in spirit still a child!

THE READER'S WAR GUIDE.

The time when anybody has very much the better of anybody else in the paper has apparently passed. The Germans swept everything before them at first, but now that the allies are getting better seasoned, they are "airly" holding their own. We have here the problem of what to do in time of peace pretty fairly worked out. It is an old saying that one should prepare for war. Germany did prepare for war. There was not a man in the empire who had not had military training, and when she went to war she did so without having to fool with very many raw recruits.

Similarly, too, the German arms and equipment were in a high state of preparedness. The allies, excepting perhaps the French, were almost unprepared for war. Everybody had to go out and see how the Germans do it before there was any widespread information on the other side as to how it is done. It cost the lives of a great many men to see how the Germans do it, but it had to be and was done. Since then the allies have been doing much better. They have chased the Germans off the front page, and are holding them on the second.

ANOTHER KING BOUND FOR THE FRONT.

ANOTHER KING BOUND FOR THE FRONT.

A POSTAL STEP-BACKWARD.

From the New York Mail.

It has been the boast of the Post-office Department under successive administrations that there has been progressive efficiency in the prompt and accurate delivery of letters insufficiently addressed. While urging correspondents to put street and number on the envelopes, so expert have the clerks become, particularly in the postoffice in this city, that few letters have lost more than a minute in time of delivery owing to lack of the street address.

Now comes a new ruling from Washington that such letters, instead of being delivered by carriers, must be tossed into the "general delivery" there to await the call of business houses to which they have been addressed.

This is even worse than the order which abolished the back-stamping of letters and destroyed the only check upon the carrier service. This new order means the daily holding up in this city of thousands of letters without any good reason.

There are thousands of business houses in this city so well known the country over that their mail naturally comes addressed to — A. —, New York City, without street or number, and there is not a clerk in the force sorting incoming mail, either in the postal cars or in the offices in this city, who loses a second of time in sending such letters accurately to their destination.

BUSINESS CAN TAKE CARE OF ITSELF.

From the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

The example of the St. Louis business men who are planning to finance a large part of the cotton crop ought to reassure nervous Congressmen. The president of the St. Louis clearing house intends to tell Secretary McAdoo that the Government need not concern itself with the cotton situation, as private enterprise is ready and willing to assume whatever risk there is in tiding the planters over the emergency. The cotton is to be stored in warehouses and the banks are to lend money to the warehouse receipts.

This evidence that business is sufficient unto itself was not needed to convince experienced men of the foolishness of Government intervention. But there is a group of shallow-pated demagogues whose leaders always demand that the Government shall step in whenever there is an unusual business situation, as if the Government could suspend economic laws and change loss into profit by a form of words written on a piece of paper. All that was needed to save the situation was to give business men time enough to learn just what conditions are. Then business enterprise does all the rest. And the same thing will happen in other branches of trade if the Government will only keep its hands off long enough.

Automobiles of Cement.

From the Pathfinder.

A new French method of building bodies of motor cars consists in first tacking wire netting over a frame of wood. A special kind of plaster is then carefully spread over the netting and modeled into the desired shape. After the plaster has dried it is smoothed and finished much the same as wood. It is then painted and finished in the usual manner and can be given a very high polish. The advantage claimed for the method are that considerable time is saved and the body thus obtained is very light and durable.

Hann't Overlooked Single Bit.

From the Boston Herald.

Now that he has embraced prohibition, Col. Roosevelt has acquired a complete collection of items at last.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

BEAUTY CULTURE.

AUBURN.—Falling hair: Try salt water or cold sage tea. With either, massage the scalp two or three times a week. Once in two weeks massage with olive oil to correct dryness.

TURNING.—For hair to fade into gray: Lavender water, 4 ounces; sulphur, 1 dram; borax, 1 dram; treacle, 1 dram. Rub thoroughly into the hair thoroughly once with an old toothbrush. Repeat if necessary, or until the hair is the desired tint.

J. S.—Exercise for reduction of abdomen. Throw hands above head with palms outward, arms extended and body thrown back as much as possible, then bend forward at the waist, keeping the knees straight, and try to touch the floor with the fingers. Cut out sugar, milk, butter and starchy foods. Get a fruit habit.

DATES.

L. M. R.—1884 was the year in which St. Louis Browns won championship.

A. R. C.—In but one year Joshua Levering was the prohibition president of the nation.

SUBSCRIBER.—Sergeant P. M. Jenkins (not Captain) was shot to death by Sadie Hays (negress) Oct. 8, 1883.

R. G. W.—We don't know when emancipation is celebrated June 19, unless it is because it was in June, 1862, that Congress authorized the President to proclaim the freedom of the slaves. The warning proclamation was issued Sept. 22, 1862 and on Jan. 1, 1863, the emancipation proclamation itself was issued. In the early part of 1863 Congress passed an amendment to the Constitution (the thirteenth), forever prohibiting slavery in the United States. By Dec. 18, 1865, this amendment was ratified by the states.

HEALTH HINTS.

WORRIED MOTHER.—Night sweats: Brace the general health, live in the fresh air, practice deep breathing and eat wholesome food. Drink cold sage tea (one cup) before retiring. The simple remedy of placing a pan of water under the bed has ardent advocates, though we do not understand how it does its work. Sponging the body with salt water has also been recommended. When the sweating follows fever it indicates tuberculosis.

FATTY.—So many hints on fat reducing have been published, we suspect that fat people do not read. Electricity is said to reduce. Walk daily at least 10 miles. This is the prescription given a woman who weighed 300 pounds. She began with a city block and in three months was actually walking 10 miles a day. The flesh fell off, so she said, as for her feelings, she was very well. Another way: Go without breakfast, taking only a glass of orange juice. Through the morning, when the stomach feels empty, hot water may be drunk. Lunch should consist of a thin slice of meat or a bit of cold meat and dry, hard toast. Dinner must be without thick soup, or meats or gravies, containing fats. Eat no vegetables with starch, a safe rule being to confine yourself to those which grow below the ground, with the exception of potatoes. Spinach is also good. Drink no milk, bear or anything containing sugar or alcohol. Double chin: Turning head backward and forward ten times a day is a good exercise. With fingers knuckled once or twice daily. Bandaging tightly a few hours every day may help to absorb superfluous fat.

HOUSEHOLD HELPS.

N. H.—Corn is regarded by many as an unlikely vegetable for canning. But if picked while very tender, cut from the cob at once with a keen knife that leaves no ragged kernels, packed tightly into the jars, which are then filled with cold water, and cooked by steam, there should be no difficulty. Another way is to take extra large ears, husk them, quart size, and can the corn on the cob. To do this it is necessary to select very tender ears of a small cob variety. The process for an hour and a half on each of three days, and the corn will be as good as new. The water should be changed after the first hour, and the corn should be subjected to the boiling process for an hour and a half on each of three days, and the corn will be as good as new. The water should be changed after the first hour, and the corn should be subjected to the boiling process for an hour and a half on each of three days, and the corn will be as good as new.

LAW POINTS.

SUBSCRIBER.—No city ordinance requiring chauffeur license; it comes from State.

MRS. E. M.—See prosecuting attorney, Municipal Court building, about husband who does not support.

A. B. F.—Don't scratch the check. It does not belong to you. Whatever your employer may say, you must be sued for before a Justice of the Peace.

AT LOSS.—A couple may file to license clerk about the names of the parties in a marriage will be just as binding as if they were honest. You can't have the false names changed later. Some day you might find difficulty in proving the marriage.

WORRIED.—In Missouri a common-law marriage, proved to be binding as a regular one. Therefore, it follows that a man married by common-law, and then divorced before another marriage can legally take part in a second marriage.

MISCELLANEOUS.

KAL.—Andrew Carnegie, Skibo Castle, Sutherland, in Scotland.

MRS. ROBE.—Try writing military school at Altam, Ill., or Mexico, Mo.

ANDREWS.—Average acre yield of corn in Illinois, 22.5 bushels; Illinois, 21.7.

J. S. R.—Write Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, for information in regard to homestead lands in Canada.

D.—Phone chief engineers of railroads. For Mississippi River engineer, civil service examination is required.

D. N. R.—Average of 20,067 World Fair attendance, 24 days. In even numbers, $1000. For details, add to that total the figure 21-2470.

T. R. X.—Dogs petted and pampered too much are liable to trouble with eyes. Where there is a discharge from the eyes, there is a discharge in the morning, use an eye water and boracic acid. Put a drop of this acid in bottom of pint bottle and fill with water. Use as often as the eyes are itchy. Use a clean, soft sponge for washing the eyes. Do not use any of the wash gets into them. Attention to the eyes for two weeks will clear out the discharge if the dog's system is in good shape.

W. R.—Outside of District of Columbia U. S. Government has nothing to do with holidays, which are fixed by the states.

Legal holidays in Missouri: Jan. 1; Feb. 22; Washington's birthday; May 30; Decoration day; July 4; Independence day; first Monday in September; Labor day; Oct. 12; Columbus day; Nov. 1; "Legal" holiday, but owing to the peculiar wording of the law it is not a legal holiday, and the banks remain open. Tuesday following the first Monday in November, general election day; Dec. 8, Christmas day; Thanksgiving day; Dec. 25; New Year's day. In cities of more than 100,000 inhabitants, is a half holiday.

ARMY PROMOTION.—More than one-fifth of the enlisted men of the army are non-commissioned officers. Vacancies are constantly occurring, through discharge and retirement, and these positions are available for men who are ambitious, energetic and soldierly. The first appointment or promotion will be to the grade of corporal, after which the man is eligible for promotion to sergeant. He may also apply for an appointment for the position of sergeant major, ordnance or post quartermaster sergeant, first sergeant, sergeant, corporal, or master signal electrician, or, if he desires, and has the necessary qualifications, he may become a fireman, engineer, electrician, sergeant, master electrician or master gunner in the artillery corps. In addition to these, all enlisted men who can pass the required examination are eligible to promotion to the grade of second lieutenant. The commissioned force of the army is largely represented by soldiers who worked their way up to that position, and some of the best fighting officers of the army are men who were promoted from the ranks. (Graduates of military colleges who pass examination may be commissioned second lieutenants of regular army.)

The Shirt of Death

In Which a Garment From Whitechapel Undoes the Work of a South Sea Missionary.

By James Francis Dwyer.

IF it were possible to construct a chart showing the distance between heaven and the more thickly populated parts of the earth's surface, the East End of London would hold the long-distance record. This assertion is built on the basis of truth which defies contradiction. The distance between Spitalfields and salvation is painful for the pious to contemplate.

With this knowledge in one's mind, it is difficult to understand why missionaries pass over such a tract when searching for suitable fields of labor. But missionaries steer clear of the East End. Mindanao, Timbuctoo, Pingelap, Banjerassin, and 10,000 other spots on the world's rim, call them with a voice that is soft and insistent, and they go forth to the naked one with enthusiasm in their hearts, and a tract-stuffed portmanteau in their hands. Somebody once remarked that "Distance lends enchantment to the view," and there is good reason to believe that person was a missionary.

This is a story of retribution. It is the story of the Reverend Gideon Plumlop and a shirt. A shirt is a peculiar Belgravia who went "stunning" in a shirt of emerald for her jaded nerves, took an interest in him, and she provided the funds to train him for the ministry. But he remained a snob. When Plumlop became a fully qualified spiritual guide one would have thought he would have returned to labor in Shandy street, where his parents still lived. He knew well that the percentage of souls that enter heaven and register from Whitechapel is lower than that from any other quarter of the globe, but he put the knowledge from him. The odors of the East End stirred painful memories. He remembered the barefooted days, and in his dreams he pictured himself spreading the word to the underdressed inhabitants of the South Sea.

He Was a Sainly Snob.

THE Reverend Gideon Plumlop was born in Shandy street, near the East London cemetery, and he was born poor. This was unfortunate. The influence of poverty is bad when it makes the poverty-stricken ashamed of being poor. And Gideon was much ashamed. The poverty of his parents annoyed him, and from his earliest childhood he detested Shandy street and its horrible environments. While quite a child he endeavored to make people believe that he walked barefooted because he disliked boots, and at 10 he had earned the reputation of a snob.

But Gideon was lucky. He was a sainly snob, and a wealthy lady from months that Fate introduced the shirt of emerald to Melanese. The Bishop of Melanese contemplated a long tour of his scattered diocese, and the Reverend Gideon Plumlop was determined that his half hundred would look as saintly as possible in the eyes of the Bishop. In his opinion uncovered comb gave a person an irreligious appearance, and as the Bishop would not reach Pualala for many months, Gideon wrote a letter to his mother in Shandy street, asking her to collect cast-off clothing for his converts.

It was then that Mrs. Plumlop found the shirt. The order to collect clothes for her son's colored congregation so disturbed the poor woman that, with tears in her eyes, she confided her troubles to the proprietress of a boarding house near by, and quite unexpectedly, received comfort. A boarder had died at the friend's house, and although the doctor, doubtful of the nature of the illness, had given the landlady an order to destroy the clothing of the deceased, Mrs. Plumlop's grief so moved her that she contributed them to the heathen instead. In the bundle was the blue shirt, and Mrs. Plumlop was happy as she sent it forth to her son in the South Sea.

The Shirt Falls to Taoulo.

TAUOLO, the headman, received the shirt. Its color attracted him immensely, and when Plumlop invested him with the article, he exhibited more pride than a girl who is the possessor of the latest style hat. When the other articles were distributed, the hungry next morning that he could hardly wait for breakfast time.

"You can cook those chickens for breakfast," said the fox, "and then you can go out and catch a bird or two, but you must be back in time for dinner, as you must not lose an opportunity to exercise."

The cat did not need to be told a second time that he could eat, and off he ran. After a few days of cooking for the fox and waiting on him the cat began to ask about his tail. When will it begin to grow, he asked.

"Oh, you will have to be patient," said the fox. "You cannot expect to have a tail like mine grow in such a short time. Tonight you better come with me and help bring home a fat goose and a hen; that will give you a little more exercise."

So that night the cat went along with the fox, and when they came to the barnyard the fox said: "You go ahead; the hens will not notice you; then I can come in and pull them out of their roost without any trouble."

The cat did as he was told, but just as he stepped in front of the hen house, click went something, and the cat found himself a prisoner in the trap that had been set for the fox.

"Ha, ha! I thought so," said the fox, trotting off as fast as he could.

"Come back and help me out of this trap you got me into," called the cat.

"I guess not," called back the fox. "The reason I sent you ahead, I was suspicious of that farmer. He had been watching for me, but now he will not be on the lookout for me. Good day, Mr. Cat. I hope your tail will grow." And off he ran over the fence.

Only after the wedding did Marie learn of Helen Vacaresco, then all too late. Marie's life has not been a happy one. Under the circumstances one cannot hold her culpable for her unpopularity. She has been indifferent to the kingdom, she has not taken the trouble to learn the language of her subjects, nor has she even taught her five beautiful children to love the country over which she now reigns as queen.

Two of these children, a boy and a girl, are eligible for marriage, and it has been reported that the one is to wed the Czar's daughter, Olga, while the other will marry Prince George of Greece.

The Queen is the best matchmaker in Europe. No doubt when her children marry but little will go with either heart when the "match" is made. The Servian Flag

THE Servian flag has three horizontal stripes of red, blue and white. Thus it will be seen that she has taken the ensign of her powerful friend Russia and reversed it, just as Russia in the time of Peter the Great took the Dutch flag and turned it upside down. The present Servian flag was adopted in 1878 when, after an unsuccessful war with Turkey, the Serbs were saved only by the intervention of Russia. By the treaty of Berlin, in the same year, the country received a large accession of territory and the Prince caused himself to be proclaimed King.

The royal standard of Serbia is like the national flag, except that it has the royal arms placed in a shield surmounted by a crown in the center of the blue stripe.

The Montenegrins are helping the Servians in the present war, and the troops of the stalwart old King, the father of the Queen of Italy, are assisting in the Austro-Servian campaign. The flag of Montenegro is the same as that of Serbia—red, blue and white.

The country has also another flag of three horizontal stripes—red, white and red, bearing a white cross in the upper corner near the staff. This is the flag of its merchant ships. The colors red

The Fox and the Cat

By Mrs. F. A. Walker.

ONCE upon a time a cat was walking through a forest when she met a fox. "My good friend," said the fox, you have a very handsome coat, but your tail is not anywhere near as handsome as mine. Come with me and I will show you how to make it grow."

So the cat went along with the fox to his den, for he very much admired the tail of the fox and thought it would make all the cats jealous when they saw his bushy tail.

"The first thing you must do," said the fox, when they arrived at his home, "is to build the fire and cook the supper. Exercise is the best thing to make your tail grow bushy."

So the cat cooked the supper and when it was ready he sat down at the table to eat with the fox.

"And another very necessary thing to be done," said the fox, "is to diet. You should eat very little and nothing but green stuff. You better go out and eat some grass and then drink some water. You will find a creek back of the rock by the door."

The cat did not like this part of the bargain very well, but he did want the bushy tail, so he went, but he was so hungry the next morning that he could hardly wait for breakfast time.

"You can cook those chickens for breakfast," said the fox, "and then you can go out and catch a bird or two, but you must be back in time for dinner, as you must not lose an opportunity to exercise."

The cat did not need to be told a second time that he could eat, and off he ran. After a few days of cooking for the fox and waiting on him the cat began to ask about his tail. When will it begin to grow, he asked.

"Oh, you will have to be patient," said the fox. "You cannot expect to have a tail like mine grow in such a short time. Tonight you better come with me and help bring home a fat goose and a hen; that will give you a little more exercise."

DRUNKEN ARMY OF MEXICANS TRAIN GUNS ON VERA CRUZ

U. S. Forces Strengthen Outposts in Fear of Attack by Gen. Aguilar's Men.

VERA CRUZ, Oct. 15.—Evident preparations on the part of a small detachment under Gen. Aguilar for an attack last night on the American outposts around Vera Cruz have resulted in the strengthening of the American lines.

Some 200 Mexicans are in a position about half a mile from the American outposts and they have two mountain guns trained on the American soldiers. Their warlike activity is attributed in Vera Cruz to over-indulgence in liquor obtained at a house just beyond the American lines.

Their boasts that they were about to begin an attack that would drive the Americans out of this port are taken more or less seriously by the Americans. The persistence of the reports that Aguilar will not be able to restrain himself much longer and that the impatience of his men to enter Vera Cruz is rendering his control over them doubtful.

Aguilar's entire force is estimated between 400 and 600 men, with several pieces of artillery. It is reported in Vera Cruz that Aguilar has warned that he will breakfast in this city next Sunday.

JOHN J. JENNINGS' BOOKS TO BE SOLD AT AUCTION

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—John J. Jennings, for 20 years an editor on the St. Louis Post-Dispatch and New York World, gathered a library of rare quality which his executor will sell at public auction Oct. 26 and 27. There are 504 lots to be offered.

Being a dramatic critic and the play reader for Charles Frohman more than a dozen years, he assembled such treasures as the "Prompt Book" of Edwin Booth and early editions of plays of Dryden, Duffie, Shadwell and others. He had a splendid collection of early and latter-day poets. His collection of folklore, stories of superstition, magic, pirates, great criminal trials, deeds of highwaymen, privately printed letters of Ruskin and histories of Napoleon are unique.

Jennings died at the age of 86, June 30, 1909. He began his newspaper life on the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. In 1873 he joined the Post-Dispatch and later went to the New York World.

Jennings wrote a masterly work in refutation of the Ignatius Donnelly contention that Bacon wrote the Shakespeare plays, and among other light and whimsical things, a delightful book on "Theatrical and Circus Life."

CURLEE ASSAILS MEERER ON HIS FLOP TO WETS

Congressional Candidate Brings Up Opponent's Record in Tenth District Meeting.

The opening meeting of the Democratic campaign in the Tenth District was held at Soldan High School last night. Francis M. Curlee, candidate for Congress in that district, assailed his Republican opponent, Jacob E. Meerer. He said that when Meerer was a country minister in Missouri he was an active advocate of prohibition. Meerer is now making his campaign on a "personal liberty" platform which includes opposition to prohibition.

James W. Collier, a Missouri Congressman, and Breckenridge Long, candidate for the State Senate, spoke in endorsement of Curlee.

Mayor Kiel will open the Republican city campaign in the Eleventh District tonight at Northwestern Hall, St. Louis and Elliot avenues. Other speakers will be Henry A. Hamilton, candidate for Congress; John S. Leahy and C. Porter Johnson. There also will be Republican mass meetings tonight at St. Hedwig's Hall, Pulaski street and Compton avenue, and at 1530 Franklin avenue.

NEWLY FOUND FRIEND ROBS MAN AS HE SLEEPS

Counterfeiting Outfit Is Left in Room and Clothes and $20 Taken.

Leonard Schmidt had a policeman called to his room at 2123 Olive street this afternoon and in explanation of his uncluttered condition said that when he awoke a young man who had shared the room with him had made off with his clothes and $20.

Schmidt, who is 22, arrived in St. Louis last night from Indianapolis. On the train he became acquainted with a man who said he was Harold Dean of Danville, Ill. By the time they reached St. Louis they were such good friends that they decided to room together.

Schmidt told the policeman that Dean had left behind in a washstand drawer a counterfeiting outfit, consisting of a plaster of paris mold for a 1912 half dollar, lead pipe and some type.

The policeman borrowed some clothing for Schmidt and took him and the counterfeiting outfit to headquarters.

JAMES E. HOW BEFORE COMMITTEE OF SENATE

Asks Favorable Report on Bill to Provide Work for Unemployed.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—James Eads How, the self-styled "millionaire hobo," heading a committee of the "unemployed," urged the Senate Education Committee to report favorably the Mar-time bill to provide that the Government take over operation of mines and other industries to give work to every person applying for it.

How told the committee that 150,000 were idle in New York and between 70,000 and 100,000 in Philadelphia.

THANK YOU!

We wish to thank the people of St. Louis for the generous patronage bestowed on this new store. On the day of our opening more than 2000 separate sales were made to as many different visitors—a record breaker so far as sales are concerned. Our constantly growing patronage is an indication that we are giving the people the right kind of service and selling good merchandise at the right kind of prices.

OUR POLICY:

Our policy is to "Cut Prices on Everything, Everyday to Everybody." It means that a child can buy as advantageously as the most experienced adult. It means that you can get what you want at a price within reason without having to haggle—not only today, but tomorrow, next week and for all time that the Hook Drug Company continues in business. If the people of St. Louis really wish to lower the cost of living and keep it lower, they will see that the Hook Economy Drug Store is patronized.

THE CAUSE OF IT ALL

If you are buying drugs cheaper today than you did before the Hook Store came to town, "there's a reason." In every city where we add a new link to our chain of stores some druggists suddenly awaken to the fact that their prices have been high and their service lax. One Hook Store in a city does more toward knocking out high prices than all the theories you can assemble. The Hook Store not only sells at prices that are fair, but gives the kind of service that particular people appreciate.

OUR STORE:

"The most inviting Drug Store in St. Louis." That remark has been made so often by those who visit our store that we really believe it. We certainly strive to keep our store scrupulously clean and to make our patrons know that they are welcome. The separate booths where one or a party of six may be served with light luncheons or soda fountain beverages have become a favored resting place for downtown shoppers.

CAUSE FOR ALARM.

Cataract a Danger Sign. Hyomel is the Guaranteed Remedy.

There is no more common yet dangerous and distressing disease than cataract, which is generally indicated by dull headaches, snuffing, raising of mucus, and frequent colds. If it is not cured it will surely weaken the delicate tissues lining the air passages and frequently destroy the hearing.

Hyomel is a most effective, safe and reliable remedy for all cataract ills. No dangerous drugs are taken into the stomach. You simply breathe it, using a small inhaler that comes with every complete outfit. The balsamic medication of Hyomel being taken in with the air you breathe simply has to reach all the sore, raw and inflamed surfaces of the air passages—its antiseptic healing begins at once. You feel better after the first Hyomel treatment—even almost hopeless cases respond quickly.

Hyomel is inexpensive, pleasant and easy to use, and surely gives quick and permanent benefit. Ask for the complete outfit. All druggists sell Hyomel and are authorized by Booth's Hyomel Co., Buffalo, to return the purchase price to anyone who is not satisfied. You certainly cannot afford to neglect your cataract trouble, head colds, or bronchitis when you can get this harmless remedy without risking a penny—ADV.

MUNSTERBERG TO STAY AT HARVARD, BUT TO TALK LESS

University Likely to Reject Resignation, With Appeal to His Discretion.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BOSTON, Oct. 16.—The resignation of Prof. Hugo Munsterberg, noted teacher of psychology, will probably not be accepted when the Harvard University corporation meets Oct. 20. But it is likely that the Professor will be asked to be more discreet in his remarks for publication.

His resignation, announced yesterday, was due to a report that Maj. Clarence Wiener, a former Harvard man, now in command of a British artillery brigade in France, had threatened to cancel a $10,000 bequest to the university unless Prof. Munsterberg's connection with the institution should cease. He objected to Prof. Munsterberg's pro-German utterances, contained in a number of newspaper interviews and magazine articles.

Letter Is a Mystery. No one can be found who will admit having received any definite statement from Wiener as to his bequest and his disposition to withdraw it. Dean Briggs of Harvard received a post card from Maj. Wiener, which said he objected to Prof. Munsterberg's pro-German utterances. The post card said a letter would follow, but so far as can be learned the university officials have not received the letter.

There is considerable doubt whether Maj. Wiener has $10,000,000 or any other large sum to bequeath to the institution. President Lowell has been informed by Albert Kropper, Philadelphia lawyer, that Maj. Wiener is well known to Kropper, and has no millions to give away.

Wiener May Have Millions, May Not Have Two Cents, Uncle Says. PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 16.—It is not certain that Maj. Clarence Wiener has $10,000,000 to bequeath to Harvard. If Prof. Hugo Munsterberg is dismissed, in the opinion of J. L. Ketterlinus, his uncle, head of a large lithographing establishment in this city, "Maj. Wiener probably has $10,000,000, yet he may not have two cents," remarked Mr. Ketterlinus. "He has made and lost money. He inherited several estates, one of which, Ewell Castle, in Surrey, I visited last year."

Avoid the Dealer Who Tries to Sell You "Something Just as Good"
When you ask your dealer for Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey he says: "Yes, we have it; but here is something better," be on your guard; his special interest in the so-called "better" article is MORE PROFIT. The "Substitution" man is simply a dishonest person, trying at the same time to swindle you and to swindle the manufacturer who has created a demand by putting REAL VALUE into his merchandise.

ROLLA'S WEIGHT
AN EDGE ON WET
FIELD, PIKERS SAY

Heavy Miners Should Profit by Rain Which Has Soaked
Gridiron at Washington U.

Francis Field is wet and in spots muddy, which usually is the case after a heavy rain, while the arid of the Parkway rotters is chilled because the field is cold and wet, and altogether there is considerable gloom because tomorrow the Miners come.

Rolla this year has a heavy team, big linemen and stout, speed-mad backs. For that reason the wet field tends to give the enemy an edge in the battle which will be fought tomorrow while the rotters are the more the prospect of the battle being slowed up by mud. On a dry day, fast field, the Rolla-Washington game would prove the best moral of football to local enthusiasts in many years.

Miners Average 176 Pounds.

It is said that the Miners easily will have an eight-pound-to-the-man advantage over the Pikers.

Coach Edmunds claims that the average weight of his varsity eleven is 165 pounds, which incidentally is 10 pounds greater than the 155-Piker eleven. Advertisers from Columbia, Mo., where the Miners defeated the Tigers, 9-0, two weeks ago, state that the average Miner will tip the beam at 175 or 176.

A good example of where weight worked its advantage on a muddy field was last year's Washington-Missouri game. The Pikers held the Tigers even up for the first half but, fagged out, were pushed all over the field by the heavier Missouri huskies in the second period. Of course it is gratifying that Coach Edmunds will have a number of second string men to replace his regulars if they find the going too hard.

A heavy field will force the locals to use an entirely different system of play than had been planned. It was decided to use the open style completely, featuring the forward pass and plays built around it, rather than the open formations. This would be impossible to carry out on any but a very fast field. Although the Pikers are credited with having a great scoring machine, it is a fact that over two-thirds of the touchdowns came from the Pottorff, Ford, or another of the fast backs got off to the open and made a long broken field run.

Four Teams Out Thursday.

Four teams worked through a constant driving rain yesterday afternoon. By the time that Coach Edmunds gave the squad the signal to retreat to the dressing rooms, it was impossible for one on the sideline to see the men in action. However, Coach Edmunds said that this was not unusual in open formations. The boys working until after 6 o'clock. Signal practice and a brief scrimmage featured the day's workout. The Piker coaches will not adhere to the time-work custom of giving the squad an off day before a big game, but will send them through a long but less aggressive workout. Four elevens will again be on the field through a signal drill.

There will be two changes in the line-up. Gray going from right half, where he performed against Shurtliff, to left end. McRobert, right guard, to right tackle, replacing "Puff" Martin. The team will line-up as follows: Gray, left end; Graham, left tackle; De Vorkin, left guard; Wetzel, center; Wright, right guard; McRobert, right tackle; Berry, right half; Milford, quarter; Capt. Pottorff, left halfback; Hetlage, right halfback; and Lewis, fullback.

Billy Connott to Boss
St. Louis U.-Washington

Game; Gridiron Gossip
Billy Connott has been secured as referee of the St. Louis U.-Washington gridiron skirmish, which will be played at Francis Field, Nov. 7. It has been announced. Connott is regarded as the foremost local official and is slated to handle some of the Big Nine battles this season. Games seldom drag with Connott as the czar.

Tack Hardwick of the Crimson eleven is the strongest man at Harvard, having set up a new strength test record of 181 pounds.

It is said Michigan followers are offering wagers at odds that the Wolverines will defeat Harvard when the two elevens meet at Cambridge, Oct. 21.

Dr. Harry Williams, the Minnesota coach, has the lightest team he has ever brought out at Minneapolis.

Dick Wieglesworth and Mal Logan, two old Harvard stars, are coaching the Crimson quarterbacks.

The Carlisle Indians, who are in a bad slump, go to Pittsburgh next Saturday for the annual game with Pitt. Last year Pitt won, 13 to 6. It looks like another thank for Warner's braves who have lost the last two games.

Sox Defeat Cubs and Gain Even Break for
B. Johnson's League

In the seventh and decisive game of the Chicago city series yesterday, the White Sox scored three runs on two hits and defeated the Cubs, who combed eight hits, 5-2. This gave the American League an even break in the fall collisions, the followers of Stan Johnson winning in St. Louis and in Chicago, while they met defeat in Boston and New York.

On the total of games, the National League won 11 and lost 4. The Browns won four out of five, the White Sox, four out of seven. The Giants took four out of five and the Braves four straight.

AGENT OF TAFT SAYS
ROGER WILL BOSS CUBS

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—Roger Bresnahan will manage the Chicago Cubs next season. The scheme of supplanting Hank O'Day, often spoken of during the season, is going through and the former New York Giant and ex-manager of the St. Louis Cardinals has been selected definitely for the place.

This news came from an agent of Charles P. Taft, who has the absolute confidence of the Cincinnati owner of the West Side team.

Sold Feds for Soccer Winners.
It was announced yesterday that each year on the winning team in the St. Louis Soccer League would be awarded with gold feds. This, it is thought, will promote more interest among the players.

The St. Louis League opens this Sunday at Robison Field in a double-header. The opening game will be between the Columbus Club and the Manawake, while in the final, the Lancers meet the Toros.

WRAV'S
COLUMN

A Needed Lesson.

THAT night spent in the holdover by Pugilist Jack Dillon, his manager and the third party of the Indianapolis trio mixed up in the Coliseum episode here Wednesday, will do more toward extracting battle instead of bunk from boxers than all the commissions in the world.

The experience had a decidedly sobering effect on Dillon, who could have stood a little of the same before entering the ring, according to Dr. J. V. Powell, the club's medical examiner.

Commissions are of little protection against pugilists who haven't the right attitude toward the game. Dillon and Klaus gave New York a bigger frost than was handed St. Louis, despite the commission there; Abe Attell operated successfully on the community for a long time as the board fell to his curves. Unsatisfactory matches and fights are of occasional occurrence both in New York and Milwaukee, where boxing is governed by commission.

Commission's Field Limited.

DILLON's treatment here has been spread broadcast over the country. Fighters who come here in the future will understand from it that stalling and friendly contests are not wanted. The men must at least be in earnest in their endeavor to give the best they have. No commission has been able to guarantee as much in any other state yet. The knowledge that they'll lose the entire purse is a more effectual check than any mere local threat of dishonor.

A NATIONAL boxing commission, however, would do a world of good, because its rulings could be enforced everywhere.

Come on With Compromise.

UNMISTAKABLE signs that the Federal League still has teeth, claws and a fighting spirit are some what apathetically received by fans who want peace, not wrangling and jumping back and forth of players.

The Federal League is evidently too strongly intrenched to be beaten without a fight that may wreck all concerned, and the league's organized baseball gets wise to the fact the better off it will be and the sooner it will be re-established on a money-earning basis.

End It by Purchase.

If the outlay competition is not wanted, why not buy out the Feds as a whole? It's worth a $1,000,000 to the major leagues to have this thorn out of the way for good; it's worth several million dollars to the minor organizations, some of which are threatened with extinction because of the existence and seeming prosperity of the outlaws.

Minor League profits from the sale of players was terrifically cut down, last season, while the league's assets were sold off. The props of the major league are even now quivering under the strain. They may crack if they have to go through another such season as last year.

The purchase of the Feds need not be a total loss, as a Class AA organization could be formed with the franchise of the league, in existence that would be a good money-maker.

But stiff-necked Ban Johnson will probably hold out for war. If he cracks, you know, can't turn around to see the Nemesis creeping up behind.

Lennon to Meet
Kid Sullivan in Future City Mill

Brooklyn Tommy Announces
His Card for Next Tuesday's Show.

Eddie Lennon of San Francisco, who is now making his home in St. Louis, has been matched to fight Kid Sullivan of Brooklyn in the feature event at the Future City Athletic Club, Tuesday. Lennon has a creditable record as a bantam and is a veteran.

Sullivan is substituting for Johnny Soisberg, who was wanted as an opponent for Lennon. Sullivan is a little Brooklyn Greek, who has been coming along well in the East and who held Soisberg even in a bout not long since.

Demarest Beats Cutler
and Takes the Lead in
Champion Cue League

By defeating Al Cutler decisively, 400-192, at 141 ballgame, last night at Peter-son's, Calvin Demarest moved into a tie with Ora Morningstar for the lead of the Champion Billiard Players' League. They each have won six and lost one game. Cutler defeated Demarest, 400-39, at Jackson, Mich., recently.

Demarest's record of 113 in the third inning of his match last night and never relinquished the lead. Cutler's best sequence was 63, late in the match.

900-MILE ROAD RACE
FOR PANAMA EXPOSITION

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Oct. 16.—Application for a sanction to hold a 900-mile Panama-California Exposition road race between Paso, Tex., and this city, has been made to the contest board of the American Automobile Association by the San Diego Automobile Racing Association, which guarantees to furnish a $10,000 purse for the contest. The six will be the pick of the team and the loss sufficient to reduce the organization to a sixth place level, if it really develops.

However, it was partly the raiding of the Federals that made the National League race last year by cutting down some of the strong factors and forcing into play bench-warriors who developed unexpectedly into stars. The same process may reduce the strength of the National again, without overbalancing it.

Will History Repeat?

THE tendency of history to repeat itself was shown in the similarity between the careers of the White Sox of 1906 and the Braves of 1914. Both came up unexpectedly with a rush, winning league and world's pen-

This Big Purchase
These Phenomenal Values
Create an IDEA—

An Idea that will save you more than $10.00 on any Suit or Balmacaan you select here from now on.

READ THIS CAREFULLY:

I bought conservatively early this Fall because of war conditions. I expected to be able to go into the open market now with ready cash and secure exceptional values—but little did I dream that I would be able to make such purchases—to buy such suits and balmacaans at such astounding prices. My first scoop brought me garments to retail at $14 that cost the retailer more than that regularly. This first purchase is so big that my regular first floor space was insufficient. It forced me to take the entire 2d floor—my overcoat floor and use it exclusively to handle this big lot—and that created an idea.

Why not take this 2d floor and, with my wonderful buying connections, make it the busiest UPSTAIRS shop in America—especially my being able to buy and sell such enormous quantities—so here it is: Each week I'm going into the market, and with ready cash, swing deals like the like of which have never before been known. The results of my first effort this season is this merchandising masterpiece—offering

Clothing values that will startle
all St. Louis!

The lack of words—the futility of effort to describe these values or even attempt description—is apparent only after you have seen these garments—and every garment is ready on racks on the cabinets all open for your inspection by yourself or with the aid of a salesman. The garments are their own best selling arguments.

You could not want finer tailoring than the tailoring of these superb Suits, Balmacaans and heavy Overcoats. All man-tailored throughout—many silk or satin lined—hand-felled collars and fit-form back, as well as single or double-breasted English effects. The patterns in many instances are exclusive and are to be found only at this one store in St. Louis, and particularly this quality and price. The popular Tartan checks, Roman stripes, self blue serges, grays, fancies, plain blue or black are here in abundance. The overcoatings, like the suits, are all of finest all wool, every thread wool fabrics. In my 25 years' career I've never had a collection of Suits to equal this at double this sensational price, $14.

My first, third and fourth floors have always carried the expenses; they shall continue to do so. My second floor will be run as a no-rent, no-added expense UPSTAIRS CLOTHES SHOP. You can well appreciate the strength of such a shop when backed by Croak's great buying organization. The first gun will be fired tomorrow—the first blow will be a powerful one, and it awakens a new selling era in this city. If you haven't known the remarkable Croak values of the past—here's your chance. These excel, surpass, eclipse all previous efforts. We invite your liberal inspection.

WOULD END HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS' GREEK SOCIETIES

Women's Congress Acts to Close College Sororities to Pupils Who Do Not Resign.
NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Every American high school girl who belongs to a Greek letter sorority and does not resign before Nov. 15 will be barred from joining such sororities, when she enters college, under a resolution adopted here yesterday by the thirteenth congress of the National Pan-Hellenic, representing 70,000 college sorority women. Mrs. J. H. Crann of Iowa, president, was in the chair. The congress will meet next year in San Francisco.

Delegates, in discussing high school sororities, said that most high school girls were too young to be members of such secret organizations. Their conduct, leading to the formation of undesirable cliques, developed unbecomingly in many instances, it was asserted, and many of the girls became members against the wishes and without the knowledge of their parents.

The Jarr Family

By ROY L. MCCARDELL

Mr. Jarr Is Going to Have a Den—Maybe

YOUNG Mr. Cecil Dredgins had not worn a wrist-watch, but worse than that, he wore a ring on his thumb! Other than this, he was apparently normal, despite his checked spots—a balisean overcoat in the shape of a cowbell and his new green-blue taper-crown Sir Salamander hat.

So far Mr. Jarr had not had what a denominated "a peek" at this denominated male butterfly that had recently flown into the social life of Mrs. Jarr. Mrs. Jarr explained all these things to Mr. Jarr, lest he should develop homicidal mania at the sight of his thumb ring, his cowbell overcoat and his Sir Salamander hat.

"For, really," Mrs. Jarr explained, "you shouldn't have all those dreadful notions. If a young man is heir to millions—"

"It'll be the price of a beef stew he hasn't a ten dollar bill!" growled Mr. Jarr. "Nobody has."

"Indeed, you are mistaken there!" replied Mrs. Jarr. "Cecil took Clara Mudridge-Smith, the two Cackleberry girls and myself riding in his beautiful motor car, and he drove us out to Cheese Hill Inn and bought us a delightful luncheon. He may wear a thumb ring, but he has rough hands from driving his own car and playing golf, so you see he may be right, but he isn't idle. Besides that, it was he who suggested your having a den."

"Me having a what?" asked Mr. Jarr.

"A den," Mrs. Jarr explained. "A little cozy sanctuary of your own where nobody will disturb you. He has one of his own, you know. All the fellows in his set have dens."

"Some of them ought to have cages," grumbled Mr. Jarr. "I don't want a den. What I want is a box stall. Then at night, when this old family Dobbin is all tucked out you can back me into it, put on my feed bag and bed me down for the night."

But Mrs. Jarr was so interested in the den idea that she paid little heed to what Mr. Jarr was saying.

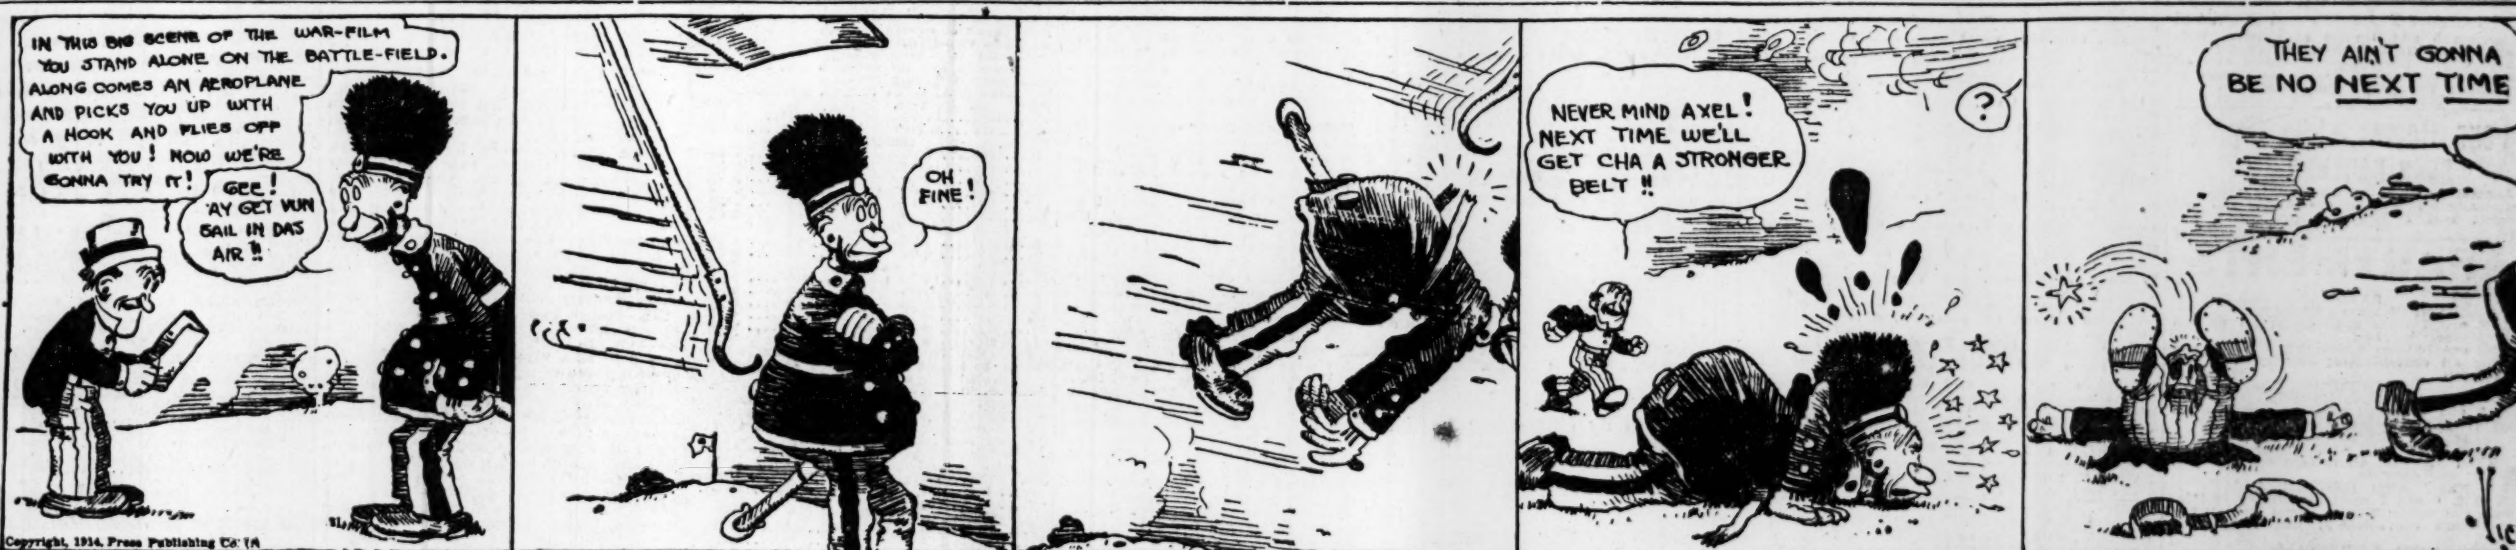

"So we've already got to work on the den," she went on. "Now that we are in this new flat, which has one more room than what we had in the old flat, we will fit it up for your own den. Then you can be real comfy. I've bought you a smoking stand already."

"It's all off!" cried Mr. Jarr. "I hate smoking stands!"

"No, you like to spill ashes all over the floor and burn holes in the sofa cov-

Hits From Sharp Wits

A word to the unwise is insufficient.

Wise men learn more from fools than fools from the wise.

Lucky is the fool man who manages to get a sensible wife.

When men exchange gossip they call it discussion.—Albany Journal.

Much time would have been saved if mirrors had not been invented.

There are some so stingy they will not even give you a pleasant look.

Doubtless a vain man's greatest regret is that he cannot read his obituary notices.

A man who drinks from the cup of sorrow has no siphon on the side.—Omaha World-Herald.

Probably once in 400 years a man who is licked in a fair fight has no excuse to offer.—Omaha World-Herald.

The average woman likes to talk about her neighbors almost as well as the average man likes to talk about himself.

The philosopher of the Cincinnati Enquirer says: "When you have said enough stop talking." But did you ever see anyone who thought he had said enough? Neither did we.—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

A Spoil-Sport.

IT was a sweet, sad play, and there was hardly a dry handkerchief in the house. But one man in the first balcony irritated his neighbors excessively by refusing to take the performance in the proper spirit. Instead of weeping, he laughed. While others were mopping their eyes and endeavoring to stifle their sobs, his face beamed with merriment and he burst into inappropriate guffaws.

At last a lady by his side turned upon him indignantly.

"I don't know what brought you here," she sobbed, with streaming eyes, and pressing her hand against her aching heart. "But if you don't like the play, you might let other people enjoy it!"

What He Played.

TWO old men who had been old schoolfellows met the other day in a restaurant.

After exchanging greetings, one said: "By the way, old chap, when at school you used to be rather fond of music. Do you play any instrument now?"

"Yes," was the reply; "second fiddle at home."

'Tis an Ill Wind, Etc.

"That fire at Highbee's house was a great blessing to him."

"A great blessing?"

"Yes; his daughter's piano was burned up."

A "Fox Pass."

FRIEND (at a French play): Why did you applaud so vigorously when that comedian made his speech before the curtain?

Spriggins (confidentially): So that folks would think I understood French. What did he say?

Friend: He said the remainder of his part must be taken by an understudy, as his mother was dying.

Goods Returned.

ONCE an old dandy visited a doctor and was given definite instructions as to what she should do. Shaking his head, he started to leave the office when the doctor said:

"Here, Rastus, you forgot to pay me."

"Pay you for what, boss?"

"For my advice," replied the doctor.

"Now, suh; naw, suh; I ain't gwine take it," and Rastus shuffled out.

Tracing the Cost.

RANTING (on the radio): How do you like my costly new raincoat, Cyril?

Barnes: It's a regular suit, all right; how much did it set your tailor back?—Puck.

How He Did It.

"How did Scadsey get his dust?"

"He raised the wind, and the dust was the natural consequence."
